HORSES IN FIRE DEPARTMENT ARE MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Lowell Humane Society Agent Will Recommend to City Council That at Least Two Fire Department Horses Be Disposed of Immediately Because of a Dangerous Skin Disease

In a letter addressed to the city council to be read at tonight's meeting, Agent Charles F. Richardson of the Lowell Humane society recommends the immediate disposal of at least two and possibly three horses in the Lowell fire department, and brings out the fact that two of the horses are suffering from a skin disease that is not only dangerous to the animals themselves, but also to humans, should contact be had through an abrasion that would cause infection.

The letter was written today after an examination of the three horses had been made by Agent Richardson and Dr. William S. Eaton, veterinary. A gray gelding at the Central station, that has grown old in the service, has muscular rheumatism and is absolutely unfit for fire service. At the Fourth street house, however, was found the horse that is suffering from the skin disease, which in his case has advanced to the chronic state and is incurable. Not only is the animal suffering acutely, but already the disease has been contracted by his mate, now at the West Sixth street house, although in the case of the latter it has not advanced to such a dangerous stage.

Expert treatment can save the West Sixth street horse, but the cure of the horse at Fourth street is considered hopeless. Agent Richardson said this noon that the skin diseases may be transmitted through bedding, combs or brushes and if a man with an abrasion on a finger should come in contact with the horse, the chances are he, too, would get the infection.

These two are not old horses, neither being more than eight years of age, and each is in splendid physical condition except for the skin disease.

FIDERS BUY BUILDING
Portion of Building Occupied by Cherry & Webb Purchased for Investment
Preliminary papers were passed today transferring that section of the building in John street next to the Five Cent Savings bank, now occupied by the Cherry & Webb outfitters, from the Hiram Parker estate to Charles S. and Cyrus Fidler, proprietors of the Boston Ladies' outfitters, who have a store located in Merrimack street. The money involved in the deal is in the neighborhood of $50,000. The new owners have purchased for investment and, as Cherry & Webb have a lease on the building, they will continue to occupy it, at least until the expiration of the lease.

This property is the last parcel of extensive holdings of the late Hiram Parker. The sale was made through James C. Reilly, trustee for the Parker estate, who also acted for Alton Parker Hutheling of New York. Walter C. Givette acted as representative for the Fiders.

The Cherry & Webb concern occupy two buildings which are adjoining. Their entire store extends from the bank to the corner of John and Lee streets. That section of the store involved in the transaction located next to the bank is three stories in height and is modern in all respects.

Elizabeth Gourghlan, aged 15 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gourghlan of 59 Wamesit street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of burns she received while playing at the home of her parents this forenoon.

As far as could be learned the little girl placed a celluloid comb on the stove and when she took it out the flames connected with her clothing and before the fire was put out the child was badly burned about the face, hands and body. The ambulance was summoned and she was taken to St. John's hospital.

Other Liquor Cases Continued—Many Drunken Offenders in Court

A district court this morning Judge Enright imposed one of the most severe penalties for some time, when he ordered Peter Kowalski, charged with illegal keeping, to pay a fine of $100 and serve a term of three months in the house of correction. Kowalski appealed and was held in $300 bonds for superior court.

Officer Clyde Aldrich testified that on April 15 members of the liquor squad visited Kowalski's grocery store at 115 Lakeview avenue and found a quart bottle half filled with wine, two gallons of moonshine, jugs and bottles.

Kowalski admitted that he was selling the moonshine for $1 a pint, according to the officer's story, and asked Officer John F. Lynch if he could fix it up

LISTEN IN ON COLLEGES FOR FREE LECTURES

The modern professor is lecturing by radio. Colleges throughout the country have adopted this form of extending their courses to radio enthusiasts who care to listen in. And the lectures are given without charge.

But it pays, says President William Oxley Thompson of Ohio State University at Columbus, O. It adds to the popularity and prestige of the college that broadcasts its courses, he maintains.

That's why President Thompson has had a radio transmitting set put up at the college. From this station members of the Ohio state faculty are broadcasting their lectures.

The station is conducted by the signal corps unit of the R.O.T.C. at Columbus.

Storage Battery Explained

BY R. L. DUNCAN,

Director, Radio Institute of America.

The storage battery, one of the most important parts of the radio receiving set, is usually the most neglected.

There are a few receiving sets on the market that advertise the use of common dry cell batteries for lighting the filament of the vacuum tubes. But they cannot last long. A vacuum tube draws approximately one ampere of current an hour. This pull on a dry battery kills it quickly.

The Bureau of Standards at Washington has announced the development of a radio receiving set that eliminates the storage battery. But until this is popularized on the market, the radio amateur will have to content himself with the storage battery.

Lead Batteries

There are in general two very good types of storage batteries—the lead plate and the nickel-iron-alkali cell. Lead batteries consist of lead plates immersed in a 20 per cent solution of sulphuric acid. The jar or container for portable batteries used in radio sets is usually of a hard rubber compound.

The plates are usually of the "pasted" variety. They consist of a flat frame or grid which is made of an alloy of lead and antimony, into which the active materials in form of a paste made from the chemicals are pressed. The structure of the grid is such as to hold the materials in place after they have been cemented into a solid mass. Plates which are made in this way are then "formed."

This consists of a prolonged charge from a source of direct current which oxidizes the plates intended for the positive until the active material of the plate is transformed into a lead peroxide—the familiar brown material of the positive plate.

The negative plates are reduced from the oxide condition of the paste to a spongy lead, which is of a dull gray color.

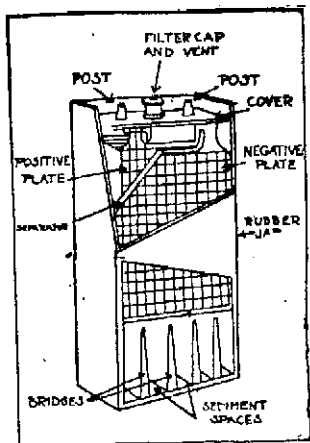

In making a cell the required number of positive plates are welded to a connecting strap, forming a positive group. Similarly the negative plates are formed into another group and interleave with the plates of the positive.

Separators are used between the plates to prevent a metallic connection.

Operation
During the discharge the peroxide of lead and the active material of the negative plate are converted into lead sulphate which covers the surface of the plates. When they are well covered, the cell is discharged and has to be taken to a station for recharge.

Since it is impracticable to open up the storage battery and look at the plates, one uses a hydrometer to determine the condition of charge or discharge.

It is nothing more than a long glass tube with a bulb at one end and a small rod inside loaded with mercury or small shot. There is a graduated numerical scale on the rod reading from 1100 to 1300. This is dropped into the fluid of the storage battery and the bulb is pressed. In case of a lead plate battery the reading on the hydrometer should not be less than 1250.

RADIO PRIMER

Inductance—An electric circuit having the property of inducing a variable electric current in itself or in a neighboring, or secondary, circuit. In radio transmitting, the inductance is in the form of a spiral or helix. In receiving it is in the form of coils.

NOTED PHYSICIAN IS NEAR DEATH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Dr. Jos. M. McCormack, 76, an outstanding figure in American medicine, is near death here from paralysis, accompanied by cerebral hemorrhage. Since 1883 he has written the Laws on Health and Medical Education for practically every state in the Union. For 12 years he organized state boards for the American Medical Association. He was the leader in the fight on cholera in 1883 for which he was thanked by President Cleveland.

"BABE" RUTH HAS TONSILS REMOVED

NEW YORK, May 4.—Babe Ruth, king of home run hitters, had his tonsils removed at St. Vincent's hospital this morning. Nurses in charge of the case reported that "everything was satisfactory" upon his return to his room.

Mrs. Ruth was expected to be operated upon later in the day at the same hospital. Her doctors declined to discuss her malady.

MISS M'CAUGHEY WINS SKATING CONTEST

Miss Anna McCaughey won the one mile open roller skating race for ladies at the Casino last night by one-third of a lap, also winning first place in the first heat.

Miss Jennie Juha, of Lawrence, took second place, which Evelyn Nash would, probably have won if it had not been the latter's bad luck to fall in the last lap.

Miss Renaud, of Lowell, won third place, while Miss Nash had to take fourth money.

Six girls started, and the race was run in two 10-lap heats and two winners from each heat skated the final of one mile. They all skated a good race and Miss McCaughey, Miss Nash and Miss Juha with a little trailing, would make a speedy trio.

A large crowd of skaters enjoyed the pleasure of the open air skating for the first time in Lowell.

Just being youthful should mean that one is lovely to look upon. A normal youthful skin is lustrous. It has a great deal of life and some natural color which is effective enough if one just doesn't fuss too much! In the first place, if one is to keep that youthful luster, the skin mustn't be given a daily coat of vanishing cream. Nothing so speeds the destruction of naturally nice skin as covering it up with vanishing cream.

A coat of such cream underlying the powder prevents action of the pores. So use a cream which puts in instead of one which coats if you would be lovely.

Have a bit of care, too, when working about the nostrils with cream. Be sure, before you finish your toilet or your preparations for the night that every bit of cream is removed from the skin about the nostrils. Most faces have a natural tendency toward large pores and blackheads there. Thus leaving cream encourages blemishes. A lotion which cuts the grease should be used after removing the cream with a soft clean cloth. Skin about the eyes should be given the same treatment as the skin about the nostrils.

And speaking of eyes—the very thing outlined eyebrow is no longer good. Women who really wish to be beautiful are no longer allowing their brows to be narrowed by pulling them out. Indeed, in Paris, the very narrow eyebrow is considered hideous.

Many women who suffered having their brows made so are now using vasoline to hasten their return. An excellent way to use an eyebrow remedy is to brush it in with the small eyebrow brushes.

TO TAKE "KICK" OUT OF PATENT MEDICINES

NEW YORK, May 4.—Two hundred patent medicine manufacturers attending the second day's session of the proprietary association's convention here considered the probable effect of plans to take the "kick" out of the products.

Henry C. Fisher, Washington, D. C., chemist, has informed them that he is making good progress in the manufacture of a "denaturant" for alcohol.

"When we substitute this for alcohol," he said, "those who drink patent medicine for the 'kick' won't be able to get away with enough of it to gain even a suspicion of intoxication."

SAYING A GOOD WORD FOR LOWELL

This month's edition of New England Business, a magazine published in Boston, which deals with the features of the business in the New England states, devotes a large portion to Lowell. Under the head of "Massachusetts," there is a long article and picture in connection with the new Auditorium. The article speaks in glowing terms of the Auditorium and of the idea originated and the men who were back of the movement from its inception.

In the advertising section a full page is given over to the city of Lowell, telling of its industries and furnishing statistics which sound most enticing to manufacturing concerns looking for prospective cities in which to locate.

WELCOME TO NEW SOCIAL SECRETARY

MISS Alice M. Bell, new social secretary to the Lowell League, was formally welcomed by the board of directors at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Following a short business discussion, Miss Bell outlined, in part, her plans for the carrying on of the work for several months. Several plans were presented in the afternoon, and the board of directors was the working out of a plan whereby the public would be able to receive the minutest details of the work as it is carried on.

Miss Bell wants the public to know just what is going on in the organization and how it is functioning. A plan has been suggested for an organization can be obtained in this form.

Just how this plan and others outlined will work out, is not known and will not be until the next meeting of the board of directors to be held, Miss Bell's office hours are from 11 to 1 each day and she will be pleased to meet persons interested in the welfare of any of our organizations for the promotion of the work.

USER'S CABLEGRAMS TO FIANCEE UNANSWERED

CHICAGO, May 3.—The engagement of Miss Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old daughter of Harold F. McCormick, and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., to Max Oser, Swiss riding academy proprietor, today stands just where it did when it first became known, several weeks ago, according to comment obtained from the McCormick home here. Interest was renewed yesterday with receipt of a Paris despatch saying Oser was worried because cablegrams to his fiancée were unanswered.

All rumors and reports pertaining to the marital intention of members of the McCormick family hereafter will be ignored, it was said at the family home.

"Her father has done all that he could," said Howard A. Colby, friend of the family, in commenting on whether Miss Mathilde and Oser were estranged. "Mr. McCormick announced his daughter's engagement, isn't that sufficient?"

Street begging is greatly on the increase in London.

OFFICER BITTEN IN HELPING GIRL

ATFOL, May 4.—Officer Callahan had an exciting experience last night at the home of George Meausky of Cottage street extension, where he had gone at the request of Meausky's daughter, who was to be married today and who wished to secure her clothes for the event. Her parents refusing to give them to her, Callahan entered the house and was attacked by both husband and wife.

After a struggle of some minutes and after being knocked down once, Callahan placed the man under arrest and took him to the police station.

where both policeman and prisoner were attended for their injuries by Dr. Smith. The prisoner was cut about the head, while the officer had three cuts on the head. He was also badly bitten.

Harold Johnson, police chauffeur, who tried to assist the officer, was bitten on the right hand. The case will come in court Saturday. Officer Callahan resumed his beat after receiving medical attention.

BLIZZARD HITS NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 4.—Another spring blizzard swept over Newfoundland yesterday.

More snowdrifts were piled up along the west coast, where the railway line has been closed for several days.

The storm prevented further operations by the three steamers, of the sailing fleet which are due to return from their second trip to the northern fields the last of the week.

IS YOUR GIRL ASHAMED OF HER FACE? DOES YOUR BOY GET MAD ABOUT HIS PIMPLES?

Boys and girls in their teens are sometimes very unkind, almost brutal to each other. One who has blemishes, pimples, boils or other eruptions upon the face is oftentimes laughed at, frequently sneered at and sometimes mistreated.

These skin eruptions are only the result of poor, thin blood lacking in red corpuscles, in iron. Yet this is a common, almost a general condition as boys and girls pass through the change from youth to maturity.

The only way to quickly get rid of the unsightly skin is to enrich the blood; to help nature hurry the used processes. Sunkist the Sensitive Tonic does wonderful work in invigorating all the organs, making rich, red blood and clearing the skin. The owners and clerks of all progressive drug stores will always be glad to supply you with Sunkist.

BOY VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY

Body of Robert Salaman, 14,
Found Hanging in Barn
Near Home in Detroit

Suicide Theory at First
Accepted, But Investigation
Discloses Marks of Violence

DETROIT, May 4.—Robert Salaman, Jr., 14 year old high school student, whose body was found in a barn near his home yesterday, was murdered, police believed today. The officers and the boy's family at first accepted the theory he had taken his own life, although no motive could be found.

Police investigation disclosed marks of violence that indicated a struggle and the position of the body, it was said, indicated the lad could not have hanged himself.

FIRE AT BROOKFIELD

Three Blocks, Including
Town's Only Theatre, Reduced to Ashes

BROOKFIELD, May 4.—Fire of mysterious origin destroyed the heart of Brookfield's commercial centre at an early hour this morning, causing a loss estimated at $30,000.

The heaviest loss was in the destruction of the Midnet theatre, the town's only amusement house.

The fire was discovered at about 1.30 by passing motorists, who saw flames leaping from a barn in the rear of the Metropole block. In response to a call for aid, fire apparatus was sent from three nearby towns.

Three blocks, besides the barn where the fire started, were reduced to ashes. They were the Metropole block, occupied by the Midnet theatre, Muldoon's variety store, and the Murphy-Crocker store, and the Bay Path shoe building.

Herbert Hestings, 75 years old, who was asleep in the roof and shoe workers' clubroom in the Bay Path shoe building, was rescued by one of the volunteer fire fighters.

WAISTLINE MOVES SOUTH

The literary waistline seems to have come to anchor somewhere about mid-hips. And one of the simplest ways to keep it there is by means of the lie-on blouse which is justly popular for many reasons.

These blouses are made for sports and outing wear of jersey and flannel. They are made for suit wear of any silk or cotton goods you may prefer. For afternoon wear they are made of elaborate materials and are elaborately trimmed. In any case they are satisfying.

The sort of blouse, you know, that one could never call "waistline" if you got what we mean.

been by the complainant company.

The writ is signed by Ralph N. Smith, clerk of the court, witnessed by John A. Alken, Esq.

If the writ of subpoena had been served yesterday morning instead of today, new bids on street asphalt could not have been opened at 11 o'clock.

Yesterday forenoon Purchasing Agent Foye received a telegram from the lawyer of the Framingham Co., stating that a restraining order had been issued by the court, but the purchasing agent did not consider that sufficient or legal notice and subsequently opened new bids.

The Framingham Co. now bidder when bids first were opened in April, claiming that the contract was verbally promised by both the mayor and the city engineer and that on the basis of such statements preparatory steps were taken and necessary expenses incurred.

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he does not believe the Framingham Co. has a case against the city and explains that the contract was not signed and that the city at all times has the right to reject any and all bids for any cause deemed sufficient.

It is claimed that investigation showed that better prices could be secured through new bids and therefore the first bids were cancelled and new ones advertised.

A representative of the Framingham Co. was present when the bids were opened yesterday and filed a formal protest.

Troops Smash on To Peking

dispatch of eight trainloads of Chang Tso-lin's soldiers eastward in the direction of Tien-Tsin.

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, has arranged to leave Peking for Tien-Tsin in an automobile.

Gen. Wu Pei-fu, brilliantly turned the right flank of Gen. Chang Tso-lin's army last evening according to today's advices from the front.

Chang's troops are now in retreat toward Fengtai from Chungshien.

Another Attempt to End Fighting

PEKING, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—President Tsai Shih-Chang made another effort today to end the hostilities between the armies of General Chang Tso-lin, the military governor of Mukden and General Wu Pei-fu, military leader of central China, who are fighting for the control of Peking.

President Tsai, after a meeting of the cabinet, sent telegrams to both generals appealing to them to consider the welfare of China and end the civil war.

The telegrams called attention to the three notes handed to the Chinese government by the foreign representatives here, undertaking against the fighting in the vicinity of Peking and

Sheppard-Towner Act Unconstitutional

Renew Hearings on Major's Promotion

BOSTON, May 4.—The Sheppard-Towner act providing for federal and state co-operation in promoting maternity and infancy welfare and hygiene, was declared to be unconstitutional in a opinion given the legislature today by Attorney General Allen. In his opinion, he said congress had exceeded its authority in that the legislation involved police powers which were reserved exclusively to the states. He suggested that Massachusetts might well test the validity of the act in the supreme court.

The cabinet also discussed the financial situation of the government. It was disclosed that the total resources of the Peking administration are now about 10,000 silver dollars monthly, a sum scarcely sufficient to pay the expenses of the city of Peking.

Owing to the hostilities, almost all the plans regarding China made at the Washington conference have been suspended.

Likewise, all the international commissions which were arranged at Washington to consider Chinese customs, the extraterritorial system and the withdrawal of foreign troops, have suspended their plan to convene in China in the immediate future.

Most of the Chinese newspapers deny the fighting, which they declare harmful to the country which ever side wins.

Governor of Kwantung Quits

AMOI, China, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—Gen. Chen Chung-Min has broken with Sun Yat Sen, president of the southern Chinese government, resigning the governorship of Kwantung, according to advices from Canton.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Hearings were resumed today by the senate military committee in executive session on the nomination of Lieut. Col. Duncan K. Major, to be a full colonel. Protests have been made by former officers of the 26th (Yankee) division against confirmation of the nomination. Witnesses today included Major General Harry C. Hale, now stationed at Camp Dix.

To Delay Passage of Army and Navy Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The intention of congressional leaders to delay passage of the annual army and navy appropriation bills until the new pay schedules for the military services, recently worked out by a joint congressional commission, is enacted into law, was made known today by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, house republican leader, and Senator Wadsworth of New York, in charge of the army and navy bills in the senate. The new pay basis, Mr. Wadsworth estimated, would save more than $5,000,000 in the next fiscal year on an army of 150,000 and a corresponding saving in the navy pay appropriation.

DEFEAT OF SEN. NEW BY BEVERIDGE BLOW TO ADMINISTRATION

HARRY S. NEW

ALBERT BEVERIDGE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 4. (By Associated Press.)—The defeat of Senator Harry S. New, Republican candidate for re-nomination, was made certain last night when the unofficial compilation of the vote at Tuesday's primary election gave a majority of 18,225 votes to former Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

With only 245 precincts out of the 2382 in the state having voted, Beveridge, 175,936, New, 161,701. Secretary of the Indiana Press, Senator New said: "There is no doubt Mr. Beveridge has been nominated for the senatorship. I do now, as I always have done, take off my hat to the winner."

For Mr. Beveridge a claim of a majority of 25,000 votes was made by his campaign manager, Clarence H. Martin.

In the democratic senatorial contest Samuel M. Balston, former governor, was the winner over four opponents by a moderate landslide within the limits of his party vote. For 1924 precincts his total vote was 96,144, while his nearest opponent, Dr. Jesse Sanders, running on a platform favoring beer and wine, had 13,437 votes, Daniel W. Simms was pressing Sanders for second place, having 13,224 votes, with E. B. Shively running fourth, with 11,451, and Charles F. Howard last, with 6930.

During most of the campaign Mr. New remained in Washington and in his few addresses he emphasized what he termed the "great accomplishments" of congress and of President Harding. He endorsed the administration policies generally, emphasizing the disarmament conference and the four-power treaty.

Throughout his campaign Mr. Beveridge steadily criticized the present federal system of taxation and railroad rates and the formation of blocs for special legislative purposes at Washington. He also steadily advocated the sales tax as a means of raising revenue. Mr. Beveridge also asked Senator New to make public periodically the senator's campaign expenditures, and his invitation was not accepted. Mr. Beveridge made weekly announcements, the last showing a total expense of slightly less than $10,000. Soldier bonus legislation did not figure in the contest, both candidates being silent regarding it. The vote by counties tended to show that Mr. New did not receive as large a vote in the cities as had been generally predicted, while Mr. Beveridge carried the rural districts by large majorities and made unexpected gains in several populous centers.

Democrats Pleased
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Out of the confused impressions inspired by the Indiana primary results the two most generally accepted were naturally more comforting to democratic than republican leaders.

These, in their relative importance, were the implied dissatisfaction of the Indiana voters with the record of the majority party in congress and the local swing of popular sentiment against it.

Impartial commentators, while conceding a certain amount of justification for these conclusions, insisted that the impressive victory of Alfred J. Beveridge over Harry S. New for the senatorial nomination was chiefly of a personal character.

ENFORCING THE AUTOMOBILE LAWS
Officer Walter Kivian of the police motorcycle squad got in some active work last night. Leaving the station about 6 o'clock, after having been on duty there awaiting emergency calls since 4 p. m., he started for Central, Middlesex and Gotham streets, to look into traffic conditions. Within three minutes he found a dealer's car with no registration number on the rear end, and informed the driver of the machine of the fact that he was violating the law. During the remainder of the evening he stopped about 20 others, most of them for having their rear lights out. This will be the officer's work from now on.

EXAMINATION FOR CHAUFFEURS
Acting Superintendent MacKinnon of the police department wrote to the civil service commission a short time ago, requesting a list of eligibles for chauffeurs in the department, or an examination therefor. Today a communication was received stating that such an examination will be held at an early date, the exact time yet to be determined.

LAWRENCE MILL WOULD YIELD

First Offer to Compromise Made to Strikers of Patchogue-Plymouth Mills

Proposal Made to Committee to Be Reported to Strikers at Meeting Tonight

LAWRENCE, May 4.—The first offer from any local mill to compromise with its employees in the matter of wage reduction, was made today by Agent H. A. S. Read of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills, paper rug manufacturers. Mr. Read, conferring with a committee representing the 400 strikers of this mill, said he would offer an average reduction of 9 1-3 per cent. The new offer in the weave room, in which one-third of the employees work, is practically a flat 10 per cent. cut. Under the original cut the percentage through the mill ran all the way from 7 per cent up to 16 per cent. Under the compromise offer the greatest cut will be little more than 10 per cent. Mr. Read said the principal compromise comes in the weave room. The committee told Mr. Read the matter would be reported to the strikers tonight and that an answer would be returned tomorrow afternoon.

INCREASING THE MOTORCYCLE SQUAD

Police Officer Andrew W. Hunter is to be appointed to the motorcycle squad in a short time, according to the superintendent, making the total number of members seven. But one other member remains to be appointed before the squad is brought up to the desired quota, and the appointment will be made in the near future, as the squad is to be ready for action when the new uniforms and motor cycles are ready. The personnel of the squad at present is Charles Hamilton, Frank Lynch, Frank Murphy, Bernard Edge, Walter Kivian and Michael J. Connors.

KILLED MAD DOG IN DOVER STREET

An emergency call came to the police station late yesterday afternoon, saying that a dog, apparently mad, had been running about Dover street, snapping at passers-by, and that the dog had nearly taken refuge in a house at 29 Dover street. Motorcycle officers Hamilton and Murphy were dispatched to the scene and found that the dog was in a dark hallway, cowering to the rear of the house the officers pried up a window and found the dog, cowering at the mouth and apparently stark mad, just below. Officer Hamilton shot the dog, disabling it, and the two returned to the front and completed its killing.

Would Erect Memorial For Women Martyrs

ELSIE DAVENPORT

Erection of a national memorial for women who lost their lives in service for the world war is the objective of a body of women, headed by Elsie Davenport, who are organizing the American Women's War Memorial Association.

The idea for such a memorial was suggested by Miss Davenport, a New Yorker, to President Harding, who referred the matter to Adm. Gen. Harris of the war department. The result was governmental approval of the plan and the formation of a committee to take in hand the organization of women interested in the project.

In order to make the memorial a really national affair the units of the association in various parts of the country, as they are organized, will have to interest their congressmen, who will present the plan in Washington. The unveiling of the memorial then will become a ceremony somewhat similar to the burial of the unknown soldier on Armistice day, 1921.

American artists and sculptors have been asked to submit suggestions for the memorial, the base of which is to be commemorative of the war work of all women and the surrounding figure or group a tribute to those who lost their lives.

Designs for tablets, which local organizations can have placed in their respective cities, also will be considered.

Miss Davenport has already been promised the co-operation of the American Legion, American War Mothers, Gold Star Mothers, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Defense society and other organizations.

four floors and the basement, will provide two new circular stairways leading from the ground floor to the top of the building, will provide a completely equipped gymnasium, club rooms, library, recreation rooms, assembly hall and all other necessary accommodations.

New windows of Florentine glass will be set in the basement. Shower rooms, dressing rooms and new toilets will be installed and the bowling alley will be re-finished. Terrace floors will be laid in the toilet and shower rooms.

On the first floor new glass partitions will provide for a parlor and library, general lounging space and billiard and card rooms. A new lobby and entrance will be built, and a new stairway will take the place of the one now there. The present kitchen and dining room will be made into toilet and card rooms.

The present church galleries will be taken out on the second floor, making an assembly hall of practically 50 feet square. Check rooms and rooms for men and women also will be constructed on this floor.

A wardens room and a guild room will be built on the third floor, while the fourth floor will be given over to a gymnasium and banquet hall in one. The building will be painted and redecorated throughout and new plumbing and electric fixtures installed as well as a new heating plant.

The building committee of the Knights of Columbus is composed of Joseph F. Bourke, chairman; Dr. Jas. F. Gaffney, secretary; Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Andrew Molloy, Philip Hergenrother, John H. McNabb and John E. Hart, president of the corporation.

salary for a director of the civil employment bureau, although an ordinance creating the position was passed after several attempts.

The council tonight also will consider an order appropriating money for the extension of the city's White Way lighting system in Gotham street, from Summer street to and including Thomas F. Mann square. This order will be introduced by Councilor Sadler of Ward 4, who has received from the city engineer an estimate that 23 lights there would cost $182 per month. It is understood that the order will call for $1200, for the maintenance of the extension for the second six months of the year.

Accompanying the order will be a letter to the council from the public service board, stating that the board approves of the extension, provided that an additional appropriation is made to finance it.

Included in a considerable amount of business that is to come before the meeting is an ordinance to be introduced by Councilor McPadden, providing for the appointment of a commission of 10 men to be known as a historical commission, whose duties will be to obtain historic facts and data to be used in connection with the city's centenary celebration in March, 1926.

An ordinance amending the city building ordinance to provide for 8-inch walls instead of 12-inch walls in the construction of dwelling houses also will be presented for consideration.

WOMEN SIT AS LAY DELEGATES

Mass. Episcopal Diocesan Convention Takes up Election of Bishop Coadjutor

Rev. Wm. A. Lawrence, Son of Bishop, Among Those Mentioned for Place

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts Episcopal diocesan convention, the first in many years to meet a second day, today took up the election of a bishop coadjutor, with right of succession to Bishop William Lawrence. The latter had asked for this action, advancing his age as the reason. Women sat as lay delegates for the first time.

At the outset of the time for nominations, questions from the four elected from Bishop Lawrence, who was presiding, the statement that selection of Suffragan Bishop Samuel G. Babcock as bishop coadjutor would only make more onerous the duties from which Bishop Lawrence seeks relief. He added that under no circumstances would he call on the convention to elect a suffragan bishop, even though Suffragan Bishop Babcock were advanced. These statements were in reply to inquiries begun by Rev. David B. Matthews of Brockton.

A few minutes later, Suffragan Bishop Babcock's name was formally placed in nomination. Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Boston; Rev. Walter Harrison Cambridge of San Mateo, Cal.; and Rev. Dr. Charles Slatery of New York, the two latter formerly of this diocese, were named next.

Rev. William Appleton Lawrence, son of the bishop, who holds a pastorate at Tyngs, Rev. William Pettus of Washington, D. C., and Rev. S. D. Drury, headmaster of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., were the other names placed in nomination.

Suffrage Victory

BOSTON, May 4. An ecclesiastical suffrage victory was won yesterday afternoon at the annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, held in Huntington hall, when, after two years of struggle for recognition, women were given the right to sit on the floor of the convention as lay delegates from any parish in the diocese entitled to lay representation. The decision was given immediately by the fact that four women who had been refused the privileges of the floor during the morning session, except as visitors, were immediately recognized as delegates as soon as the change in the canons of the church was made and may vote today for a bishop coadjutor.

These four women were Mrs. Mabel A. Jones of St. Peter's church, Cambridge; Mrs. Fred T. Hall of St. Thomas church, Gloucester; and two delegates from the church of the Most Holy, Woods Hole. Mrs. Walter O. Lusk and Miss Josephine W. Fiske. By a final vote of the convention yesterday afternoon the four women were given their status immediately as lay delegates.

Fears 'Feminine Church'

The decision was not made, however, without a heated debate. Scathing reference was made to the "solving desire of some sentimental young man," which provoked an equally scathing statement from Dr. William Harman van Allen of the church of the Advent that "I would rather have good women who will do their duty than half-baked men who run away from it."

It was Dr. van Allen who finally decided the issue with an eloquent speech that called forth mingled laughter and cheers, ending in a storm of applause and a quick dispatch of the motion granting to the women their rights as delegates.

After Dr. S. B. Blunt, of All Saints' church, Dorchester, had made the reference to the sentimental young man, in opposing the motion, he declared that "the church is not cursed with too large a man power. If the men do not have to come (to the convention), they won't, and if the women get the chance to come they all will, with the result that the Episcopal church will turn into the feminine altogether. If we are to keep the men of the church going we must give them something to do and give them their place. I plead for the men as much as I admire the women."

The motion was passed by the clergy by a vote of 88 to 38, and by the lay delegates by a vote of 49 to 22.

Enforcement Resolve Wins, 143 to 93

Another debate of oratorical warmth took place over the resolution submitted by Dr. van Allen, based on a resolution offered by G. Lorin Briggs of St. Paul's church, Brookline, in support of the prohibition amendment and the state enforcement code. The resolutions as submitted to the convention by the committee expressed the approval of the diocese of the "bureaucratic" of its bishop in his annual address regarding the duty of lay citizens to maintain and defend the constitution of the United States in its every article and to obey and enforce all laws necessary to that maintenance.

"As Christian citizens," the resolution continued, "we condemn the spirit of anarchy wherever manifested which would bring into contempt the prohibition amendment, and in event of a referendum we urge upon the voters of the commonwealth approval of the bill recently passed by the house and senate."

All of the resolution was passed unanimously except the last phrase referring to the state enforcement code, on which those opposing the whole resolution centered their attack.

Mr. Briggs defended the resolution, but his enforcement code had not yet been signed by Gov. Cox a point of order was raised, as a result of which Mr. Briggs had to amend the resolution to read as above. With this change it was passed by a vote of 143 to 93.

Textile Resolution Passed

A resolution was submitted asking that the textile manufacturers secure engineers to determine accurately the costs of production and the basis on which wages should be regulated. The committee appointed to consider this, however, offered instead a resolution submitting this suggestion to the committee on social service of the diocese, with the belief that the industrial question must be approached from the viewpoint of human relations as well as wages and profits, and with the conviction that the church should lead the way to industrial peace.

This also aroused opposition from Capt. White, but the resolution was passed by a practically unanimous vote.

During the noon hour elections were held to choose deputies to the national convention in September in Portland, Or., and members of various bodies. The committee reported the election of four clerical and three lay deputies to the general convention, these being Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity church, Rev. John W. Suter, Rev. W. C. Thayer, headmaster of St. Mark's school, and Dr. William Harman van Allen, of the church of the Advent, and for laymen, Henry J. Ide, Joseph Grafton Minot and Philip S. Parker.

concessions, which they said constituted for Russia a basis of future international policy, and they were studying a plan to divide the Baku and Grunzy fields into four or five zones, one of which the soviets would operate, granting concessions on the others to rival national groups. This, however, the soviet delegates said, would be conditional upon an early recognition and adequate financial help.

France Supports Belgium

GENOA, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—France's decision to support the opposition of Belgium to the private property clause of the memorandum sent the Russians, was announced today by the French delegation here, on receipt of official information from Paris. It was added that Vice Premier Barthou, head of the delegation, would return here Saturday.

This announcement is believed to mean that France, like Belgium, will not sign the Russian memorandum until the property clause is further amended in a manner satisfactory to Belgium.

French representatives here conceded today that the more the property clause is amended to satisfy Belgium, the less satisfactory will it become to the soviet government and, therefore, as the question of nationalized property is a fundamental one for the soviets, further changes are liable to increase the difficulties of the negotiations.

Belgium desires more definite assurances that property taken over by the soviet government will be returned to its foreign owners, and not incorporated in Russian companies.

French Cabinet Approves Pact

PARIS, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—The French cabinet this afternoon approved the text of the proposed non-aggression pact, under consideration at Genoa, with the reservation that it must not be interpreted as withdrawing from France any rights she had under treaties.

The ministers spent the morning session of the cabinet in studying the text of the pact, originally proposed by Premier Lloyd George.

It was deemed necessary to make reservations regarding the rights of France to make use of the prerogatives conferred by the treaty of Versailles for the military occupation of German territory as a penalty for non-fulfillment of the treaty.

With this reservation the pact was unanimously approved.

The form in which the reservation will be presented at Genoa was expected to be decided upon at another meeting of the cabinet this afternoon.

Premier Poincaré and M. Barthou already are engaged in negotiations with Premier Theunis as to the future attitude of the French and Belgian delegations at Genoa on Russian affairs, and an effort is being made to find a text for a reservation to the memorandum to Russia which the conference is likely to accept, and that at the same time will satisfy the Belgians.

The latter are understood here to fear strongly that concessions for property in Russia, originally owned by Belgium and now nationalized by Russia will be treated in.

Russia to Accept Program

GENOA, May 4. (By Associated Press).—Soviet Russia's delegates are expected to accept in general the reconstruction program framed by the powers, although interposing suggestions regarding its details.

The main sources of objection by the Russians, it is believed, will be the failure to include recognition of the soviet government, and the much mooted article regarding restoration of private property owned by foreigners in Russia, or the compensation of the owners.

Other points of issue likely to be raised concern the suppression of revolutionary propaganda by the Bolsheviks, and the absence of any offer of direct government loans to Russia. The Frenchmen express the opinion that, whatever the Russians do about the allies memorandum, there will be no immediate recognition of the soviet. On the other hand, Mr. Lloyd George says that a non-aggression pact, to be effective, must include Russia, and her inclusion must be preceded by an arrangement with the powers concerning her reconstruction.

Indications are that the conference will mark time for several days while the final scenes are being prepared by the chief actors. The younger attaches of the Italian secretariat office have invited Mr. Lloyd George to a mountain trip and picnic to help him while away the time and to keep him from getting impatient.

In the Lowell District Court

without appearing in court. Officers Trudel and Kilroy corroborated Al-drigh's story, while Deputy Hugh Downey informed the court that Kovalski paid a fine of $150 on a similar complaint last October. The judge then imposed the fine and full sentence, from which Kovalski immediately appealed.

Other liquor cases were continued until later dates. Leona Dube, for illegal keeping, and Loren Revel, charged with interfering with an officer when the raid was in progress, were continued until Saturday. The raid which resulted in their arrest took place about three weeks ago. Mota Paciewicz, who appeared on an illegal keeping charge a short time ago, was continued until next Monday.

Curtis Chamberlain was accused of non-support of his wife, and entered a plea of guilty. His wife said she had received no money from him for several months, and during this time he has been living with a woman who conducts a boarding house on Lakeview avenue. Chamberlain said that his wife put him out of the house three times, and he has been obliged to find another boarding place. He stated that he is earning $15 a week, and previously earned $7 and $8 a week. It was discovered that he had told the probation officer he earned $15 a week, but he finally accounted for this by saying the extra $3 was his board money, which he didn't think should be included in stating the amount of his wages. The judge informed Chamberlain that perjury was a serious offense, and on the non-support charge found him guilty and ordered him committed to the house of correction for five months, suspended for a year on condition that he would pay the probation officer $5 weekly for his wife's support. Chamberlain readily accepted the latter condition, and went on his way, with the judge's advice that he get a new boarding house.

Joseph H. Laporte, for non-support, was continued until May 13. Alpha Ostigny was charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Laura Bonton, who said he had kicked her twice. According to the witness, Ostigny also assaulted her husband, with whom he had trouble about payments, and had treated her discourteously on previous occasions. It was in defense of her husband that she was assaulted. Os wished him luck.

Several drunken offenders were present. James Hackett was found guilty and sentenced to the house of correction, with sentence suspended on day so that he may get out of town. Geo. B. Hartley was found staggering drunk in Middlesex street last night, at the same time annoying woman passing by. It was found that he was on parole from the state farm and the case was placed on file, an agent of the farm taking Hartley in charge.

Ralph E. Calley of Brookline, who was locked up last night on a charge of drunkenness after the machine in which he was riding, collided with another car in Gorham street, was released by the probation officer this morning. The driver of the car in which Calley was seated ran away when the accident occurred.

Leon C. Chauvin was brought before Judge Enright as a suspicious person. Chauvin was able to give a good account of himself, and presented a good appearance, and was dismissed. The judge told him to keep on going, and husband that she was assaulted. Os wished him luck.

Lowell Textile School Show "I'll Never Tell" At the Opera House Tomorrow Night

The finishing touches have been put on Lowell Textile's show, "I'll Never Tell," which is scheduled for the Lowell Opera House tomorrow night. Only two short rehearsals remain before the time set for the curtain to go up on the latest production of the combined musical and dramatic clubs.

The cast has been announced as follows:

Jack, a Textile School Student, J. P. Flagg

Estell, the Vamp, J. J. McCann

Sam, the Cynic, C. Bird

Helen, the Smitten, H. Brigham

Myrtle, the Defective, W. Wheaton

The Advertising Man, F. K. Hall

A chorus of 30 will support the leading actors, all of whom have taken main parts in former Textile productions. Mr. Holley S. Winkfield, a graduate of M.I.T. and at the present time instructor of machine drawing at the local institution, wrote the musical score. He will direct a 30 piece orchestra which will furnish music.

The songs are said to be catchy and the whole show a laugh-producer. The scene is laid in the unknown "Billerica Islands," which, by the way, is a great playground for Textile students in spare hours. The usual love theme runs through the play and is all the funnier when the fact is considered that men take all parts in the show, but they sure do make stunning looking girls, vamps included.

The decision to put on another show was reached by the Textile students following the success scored by an offering of the dramatic club "some months ago. That show was a decided hit and many compliments were showered upon both actors and producers following the production.

The musical and dramatic clubs then put heads together and decided to try something which would bring both clubs together for one production. "I'll Never Tell" is the result of a conference held some weeks ago. The tickets for the play are going fast, although it is reported a few good seats may still be obtained.

Through Matron Ellen O'Leary, of the Hosford square children's home, an appeal is made for a lawn swing, some games or some chairs which could be used for the playground. Donations of any of the above articles will give a good deal of pleasure to the little people. John Conway, of the

Conway transfer company, has volunteered to bring any gifts to the home. According to one expert in physical culture, a nation whose men excel in the little people, John Conway, of the

Allen's Ruling is Ignored by Senate

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts senate yesterday, by a vote of 22 to 15, ordered to a third reading a bill to prevent discrimination in the sales or leases of apparatus for dispensing gasoline. This bill was substituted some time ago for an adverse committee report, and then the senate asked Attorney General Allen for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the bill. The attorney general sent down on Tuesday his opinion that the bill was unconstitutional, but the senate paid no attention yesterday to his finding. Senators (Misses of Waltham and Abner of Watertown) spoke against the bill, and Senator Shea of Holyoke argued for it.

Senator Bliss of Malden moved to substitute for an adverse committee report a bill providing that candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and attorney general shall be nominated in convention instead of in primaries. On motion of Senator Bliss consideration of the matter was postponed to next Tuesday.

The bill providing for the enforcement of the Volstead act by state authorities was passed to be engrossed without debate on a voice vote.

The senate had a long debate on a resolution calling on the United States senate to pass the Dyer anti-lynching bill, which is now before that body. Senators Hardy of Huntington, Wadleigh of Merrimack and Reed of Taunton opposed the resolution, and Senators Butler of Lawrence and McDonnell of Boston favored it. A substitute which did not mention any particular piece of legislation, but urged the passage of an anti-lynching measure of some kind, Senator Nathan of Natick spoke for the original resolution, and it was adopted, 24 to 11.

The committee on cities reported a bill authorizing the city of Melrose to borrow $500,000 outside the debt limit for the construction of a memorial city hall.

"HOPELESS 21 YEARS AGO STILL ROBUST THROUGH INTERNAL BATHING"

Mr. Alfred B. Wright of Middletown, Ohio, writes to the Tyrell Hygienic Institute of New York:

"I appreciate what the 'J. B. L. Cascade' has done for me. Twenty-one years ago, my friends thought I was going to die, but I fooled them. 'Whenever I begin to feel badly, I use the Cascade and I am glad to recommend it to everyone. For I believe it will do more for humanity than any other one thing.'

The 'J. B. L. Cascade' cleanses the lower intestine in its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Thousands testify that constipation, indigestion, stomach troubles, biliousness, headaches and all the many nervous troubles which they cause are absolutely relieved and prevented by this Nature Treatment.

Liggett's drug stores will gladly explain to you the simple operation of the 'J. B. L. Cascade,' why it is so certain in its results, and will also give you free of charge an interesting little book containing the results of the experience of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell of New York, who was a specialist on intestinal complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not cut this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.

FOR THE SUMMER OUTFITS

Neat, eh what? Especially if one's figure merits the same adjective? And that explains, perhaps, why this sport coat and this midday are worn by the exacting young person for all outing wear.

They're made in the fanner's own color—lustrous red-ay, flippant, audacious. Jade green is allowable, too, but all except the highest of high shades are looked upon with slight but unmistakable disfavor.

Notice, if you please, the long buttoned collar to the midday and with wide patch pockets and trim high neck of the sport coat. The midday will be of flannel or some summer material. The sport coat may be of flannel, jersey, rayon, homespun or crepe satin, according to one's mood and the occasion.

The Dustin Farnum picture, "The Devil Within," is a story of the South Seas in which the star portrays the role of an ugly, ill-tempered sea captain who employs his brute strength to overcome all obstacles in his way. He finally meets another kind of strength that overcomes him—consolation—and the way it overcomes him and brings him to his knees is most interesting. See this picture story and be interested and amused.

BOY INMATES OF HOME DECLARED UNRULY

WALTHAM, May 4.—Five juvenile inmates of the Massachusetts Home for the Feeble Minded who were in court charged with being too unruly to be allowed to remain in the home, were yesterday in default of bonds of $100 each, sent to East Cambridge Jail, pending a hearing on their case next Tuesday in the court here.

The boys are Irving Whitchoer, Samuel Richmond, Elmer H. Dearborn, George Kent and Arthur Riley.

Dr. Walter E. Fernald, superintendent of the home, asked the court to send the boys permanently to some other institution. He said that they have been ring leaders in various troublesome outbreaks at the home and had run away several times. He charged that they had even planned to murder an attendant at the home.

The boys stated in court that they ran away because of the treatment they had at the home. One said he had been kicked in the mouth by an attendant, and another said he had been thrown down stairs. This is said to be the first time such a plea has been made to court on behalf of the home.

The Great Beauty Secret of Ancient Egypt

HOW often have you seen such a phrase used to describe the ultimate beauty of beautiful hair? Have you ever thought that your own hair could have that self-same glint and sheen? It can, and without the slightest suggestion of artificiality.

Lura Liquid Shampoo

is actually the rediscovered beauty secret of ancient Egypt, used by queens and ladies of that picturesque land as a tonic for their hair.

Never was more luxuriant, more beautiful hair known than that of those beauties of the distant past. And its loveliness was due to the tonic Henna. A bottle of Lura Henna Shampoo will last you for many weeks, as it requires a smaller quantity than any other shampoo, and therefore is the most economical shampoo on the market.

A Perfect Shampoo

Lura has no equal as a shampoo—a shampoo for men, women and children. It is a sweet, cleansing liquid, and is far superior to other shampoos, its strength lying in its solution, which, being made entirely from pure cocoanut oil and other salutary ingredients, insures a greater solvent of greasy and oily matters that accumulate on the scalp and in the hair. On account of the strength of the solution, you will get a much quicker, heavier and more cleansing lather than is possible with other shampoos, which at once makes your shampooing expense very little.

Brings Out the Glint

We want it definitely and clearly understood that Lura Liquid Henna Shampoo is not a coloring or a dye, and will not tint the hair one particle unless you so desire; and that a henna tint cannot be effectively acquired on one or two applications. It has been our experience that people who buy Lura Liquid Henna Shampoo for the henna effect have in mind that the product cannot be equaled anywhere as a shampoo, so you must realize at once the importance of a liquid henna shampoo that combines a henna and liquid soap in one solution. If you do not wish the Henna tonic, we recommend Lura Ideal Shampoo, which contains no henna. By continued use of Lura Liquid Shampoo, there will come the rich, beautiful, luxuriant hair and you may rest assured that it beautifies and promotes hair health every time your hair is washed. LURA Henna Shampoo, oversize 8-oz. bottle; LURA Ideal Shampoo (without Henna), generous 6-oz. bottle. At all druggists.

MOTORIZING CITY DEPARTMENTS

City Engineer Kearney, the other day gave out the information that the flvver being used in connection with the sewer department was being run at an average expense of 53 cents per day.

That statement in itself indicates that somebody is looking after such things in the various departments so as to be able to tell whether the running of any automobile is costing the city 50 cents or $5 a day. We do not recall any such statement as that having been given out by the street or sewer department in the past, although such information may have been available. If any such system of keeping an account of expenditures had been adopted in the street department when certain pieces of smooth paving were done, the city might have been saved much trouble and needless expense. But this 53 cent statement is hardly satisfactory. There is no indication as to the time on which this calculation is based. Was it a week, a month or a year?

Although the flvver is a serviceable machine, we surmise that if the computation is for a year, the cost would be more. There would surely be some expense for repairs on batteries, for tires, grinding valves and keeping the running gear in proper condition.

But the engineer made another statement, that, taken in comparison, seems to argue against the retention of horses in the service; but right here we wish to say, that despite the economic use of certain motor vehicles, yet for some kinds of work the horse is highly preferable. The cost of the horse per day is $1.25, which would seem to indicate that a horse is more expensive than the Ford auto. That may be the fact under certain conditions; but for short hauls or for work in which frequent stops have to be made, the horse is more economical than the auto. No man who has to make frequent stops, as, for example, in collecting, can do better work with an auto than a horse. This explains why the horse is still retained for certain kinds of work in preference to the auto.

Chief Saunders of the fire department keeps an accurate account of the outlays for the thirteen horses of the department, and the average for each is 79 1-3 cents per day, which is 44 2-3 cents less than the average for the horses in the street department.

Here are the figures for a year:

Hay and Grain	$3,619.43
Harness Repairs	119.50
Shoelng	819.79
Veterinary	71.99
Total	$4,639.71

This sum divided by 18 gives $256.71, the average cost of the horse for a year, and the latter sum divided by 365 gives the daily average just quoted.

Motoring the Fire Department

This expense for keeping horses would seem to argue in favor of motorization of the entire department; but there is no scientific basis of comparison in all the elements involved such, for example, as speed in getting to a fire, cost of upkeep, and the serviceable life of the horse as compared with that of a piece of apparatus. On the whole, the judgment of fire fighters favors motorization as the quickest and best method of providing the most effective protection against fires. The motorized fire department may cost a little more than that in which the motive power is by horses; but the fact that it is faster is the prime consideration.

Chief Saunders asserts that in some cases the fire chemical is at the scene of a fire before the horses would have reached the street. Speed in reaching fires overtops all other considerations; because if a fire can be reached in the incipient stage, the chances are that it will be prevented from spreading, whereas if it gets a little headway all the apparatus of the city may not be able to prevent its development into a conflagration.

The oldest truck in the Lowell fire department was acquired in 1867 and has just been replaced by the new motor hook and ladder truck at the Lawrence street station. That will release two horses that may be transferred to other stations to replace animals that are ready to be retired.

The next oldest truck was put in commission in 1889 and is now at West Sixth street. That, too, will doubtless be motorized as soon as the city can afford the expense. It is not considered good policy to throw out the horses that are in good condition in order to promote the motorization, for it is regarded as economy when horses become decrepit, to buy others to take their places. Thus the motorization of the entire department carried on step by step as the present horses become unfit for efficient service, will be completed within a half-dozen years or less.

But it might be assumed that if motorization is good for the fire department, it is equally good for the other departments. That is not a fact, however. The horses used for the teams that go about collecting ashes and street sweepings can never be replaced by motor vehicles to advantage. Neither can any other horses used for like purposes. Of course, the heads of departments, if they ride at all, want automobiles, and a coupe that can be run for $5 cents a day will serve the purpose just as well as a high-powered roadster or a seven-passenger touring car.

Where a public official needs an auto in his work, he should have one; but there is no excuse for having the privately owned cars of city officials maintained in city garages and at the city's expense. Unless motor vehicles are carefully handled and kept in first class condition, they will soon wear out and will thus become very expensive to the city. If a machine be sent to a garage every time any little thing goes wrong with the engine, the ignition, the battery or the running gear, the cost of running may jump from 85 cents a day to something like $2 to $5 per day. To prevent such waste a skilled auto mechanic should be employed and a strict account should be kept of repairs and necessary expense of upkeep for each separate motor vehicle or piece of apparatus. Otherwise the maintenance of such vehicles will become a steady source of waste and extravagance.

FORD'S CHOICE

Early in Henry Ford's career, it was a toss-up whether he would devote his life to making watches or flvvers, says an article in McClure's magazine for May.

Ford had 360 watches in those days. He studied each until he "knew it by heart."

Finally, he says, he concentrated on automobiles because he felt they would become a necessity, while he figured that watches were not a necessity, hence would be harder to sell.

A tip there, for young men. Hard-est part of succeeding is to induce people to buy your products or services. Offer them a necessity and the problem is half eliminated.

When Henry Ford, in his youth, was considering making watches instead of flvvers, his goal was a watch that would sell for 33 cents.

He produced a gasoline-driven auto proportionately cheap, after experimenting with and discarding a steam car.

Cheap prices result in quantity production—places a commodity within reach of millions who cannot pay high prices.

The career of Henry Ford can be summarized in two words—"Low prices."

MAN AND APE

Have scientists finally found the missing link, long sought as the connection between man and monkey in evolution?

A tooth that belonged to a primitive creature—neither man nor ape, but halfway between the two—is dug up near Akala, Nebraska, by a geologist.

The tooth, a scientific sensation, is said to be accepted by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of the American Museum of Natural history, as proof that man descended from the ape.

It is more logical to believe that the ape descended from man. A few of the lowest types of primitive man might very easily have strayed from home, become lost in the fern jungles, and degenerated into monkeys.

RAILROAD EARNINGS

The Great One railroads during February had net operating income or profits of $47,762,600.

This is shown by reports filed with the Interstate Commerce commission. It is equivalent to the roads earning $4.57 a year on each $100 of their local valuation.

Considerable time has passed since that valuation figure was fixed. Business men, who have been writing off losses in their inventories, will wonder how much the railroads have depreciated in value during the nation-wide price collapse.

A material depreciation would boost the 4.57 figure announced as the annual earning rate during February.

WAR IN CHINA

Chinese armies battle along a 130-mile front. It is a real battle, with airplanes and artillery.

No American pays much attention to it, because the Chinese are fighting among themselves. It would be another story if the bullets were coming our way.

It was different 1500 years ago, when an army of 20,000,000 Chinese pushed westward through Europe.

That expedition has almost vanished from our histories. But the impression it made on our ancestors still runs in our blood as an instinctive fear of the Yellow Peril.

With injunction, mandamus and quo warranto proceedings involving municipal affairs, our citizens have great opportunities of becoming familiar with high court legal procedure; but they will find out in the end that this is an expensive form of amusement.

It is encouraging to find one of the local manufacturing companies starting to build a new mill. The Mohr-Pinch company is unable to handle its rapidly growing business in its present quarters and has to expand another than of returning prosperity.

Many Lowell residents are wishing that we had a joint commission to combat profiteering landlords so effectively as does the commission of Fall River.

The Christian world will heartily join with the pope in praying for an agreement at Geneva that will restore peace and good will among the nations of Europe.

Doubtless Bishop Lawrence is encouraging a beer plebiscite will be a demonstration of having designs on other departments.

It is fine for colleges to teach everything; but June graduates shouldn't think they know it.

A woman's idea of being bad is sometimes better than her husband's idea of being good.

Thought for Today

Sweet May hath come to love us. Flowers, trees, their blossoms don; And through blue heavens above us The very clouds move on. —HEINE.

A Word a Day

Today's word is consortium. It's pronounced kon-sor-shium. It means a fellowship, assembly, association, combination or union. It's adopted, directly, from Latin "consortium," with the same meaning as when employed as an English word. It's used like this—"Upon the terms they name, certain powers are disposed to form a consortium to develop Russian enterprises."

The Honeymoon Pole

Just before the big show started the lion tamer and the dog trainer were seated in the dressing tent conversing about their respective acts. "How's the new dog you bought last month coming along?" inquired the lion tamer. "He's learning fast, and will make a good performer if I can ever get him accustomed to this jumping from town to town," replied the other. "It's going to be some job, though. When the day we showed in Kansas City he buried a bone beside the centre pole, and he tried to dig it up in Topeka the next day."

A Chicken Chaser

Hiking through the small French town an ignorant chicken, unversed in the appetites of American dukes, crossed the road in front of a colored detachment. With much zeal a soldier broke forth from the ranks and set off in pursuit. "Halt!" bellowed the officer in charge. Both fowl and negro only accelerated their paces. "Halt!" repeated the officer. The dusky doughty made one plunge, grasped the chicken by the neck, and stuffed it, still struggling, inside his shirt. "Here!" he panted. "Ah! I learn you to halt when do captain says halt, ya' disobedient bird."

Dual Horror

Miss Jane Adams, of Hull House, said at a tea: "Laundry prices are so high that clean things are a luxury, even to dukes. The old Duke of Devonshire once saw in a newspaper that among a certain young bride's wedding rings. 'What the devil are nuptial rings?' the duke asked. 'In a certain class of society,' a noble society, explained, 'clean nuptials are not furnished with every meal, and therefore each member of the family has a distinctive ring.' The old duke thought this over in silence for a long time. Then he exclaimed: 'Good God!'" —Chicago News.

The Land of Children

Robert Henri, the painter, was telling stories about his life in Spain. "Spain is above all things," he said, "the land of spoiled, caterwauling children. Wherever you go—to church, to fashionable restaurants, to the opera—caterwauling children surround you. Spain would have delighted Theobald Roosevelt's heart with its large families. Families of 12, of 15, even of 20 children are nothing there. One summer day on the beach at San Sebastian a little boy rushed up to a fat man who was trying to soothe a pair of yelling twins. 'Soothe, soothe, come quiet!' the boy panted. 'You can't soothe the twins down to go to the rescue, turned doubtfully to his wife, 'Dolores,' he said, 'have we a Santiazo?'" —New York Mail.

Miss Pringle

If you're so weak as to remark, "Miss Pringle,"

"The day is fine," why then, Miss Pringle laughs:

At all the words of men Miss Pringle laughs.

If you would say, "There's Central Park, Miss Pringle,"

Or else, "I'm bitten by a shark, Miss Pringle,"

Or else, "Twice five is ten," Miss Pringle laughs.

Shrill as a guinea hen, Miss Pringle laughs.

She laughed once when I said, "Tis dark, Miss Pringle."

At first I thought "Poor, pretty, little girl!"

Some nervous malady has caused this habit:

Her throat, no doubt, is always on the edge

Just as his twitchy nose perturbs a rabbit."

And then I saw her teeth, white, even, small.

She has fine teeth, and nothing else at all.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

BROCKTON, May 4.—Carl J. Blom, 31, shoemaker, fired two shots at his sleeping brother, Sure Blom, 20, his bedfellow, at 4 o'clock this morning and supposing he had killed him, committed suicide with a bullet through his head. The brother was unharmed, remaining prostrate in bed, fear-stricken as Carl had fired at him, the police say. The suicide was seized with a fit of insanity, the police say. The police found notes about love roses and the stars and handbooks for $2500 in the room. The younger brother is a recent immigrant from Sweden.

TO ERECT MONUMENT TO "POP" ANSON

CHICAGO, May 4.—An Andrian Constantine Anson Memorial association has been formed, it was announced today for the purpose of erecting a monument in honor of the "father of big league baseball" in a public park here within a stone's throw of the place where "Cap" played for 22 years.

The association plans a $100,000 fund from 100,000 fans.

HELFEST, May 4.—Three members of the Ulster special constabulary were seriously wounded when ambushed in Ballyronan, in southeastern County Londonderry last night. One constable was wounded in a similar affair at Cookstown, County Tyrone.

Adopt De Valera's Motion

DUBLIN, May 4. (By A. P.)—No motion of Eamon de Valera, the Dail Eireann late yesterday adopted a motion ordering the opposing sides in the Irish republican army conflict to cease firing immediately and arrange a truce. Mr. De Valera said he would like to see the army executive which had taken an independent position issue a similar order and would do all he could to that end.

Richard Mulcahy said his side had done all possible, and Arthur Griffith declared their men were only defending themselves.

Griffith pressed De Valera for a definite assurance, and the latter said couriers should be sent to establish an immediate truce. Griffith urged that De Valera should speak at the Four Courts in Dublin, the headquarters of the dissident army faction.

Richard Mulcahy seconded De Valera's motion for the order to cease firing and arrange a truce, and after its adoption the house at 6.05 o'clock adjourned until Friday.

The "Peace" committee chosen was made up as follows: Sean Hayes, Patrick O'Malley, James Dwyer, Joseph McGuinness and Commandant Sean McGowan for the Gelfinches and Mrs. Tim Clarke, T. Rutledge, Liam Melowes, Sean Moylan and Harry Boland for the Dissidents.

In urging the necessity for a truce, Commandant Sean O'Heagarty of Cork said he had heard reports that 18 men had been killed in the fighting at Kilkenny.

Plan for Truce Till Friday

Mr. De Valera, speaking on the suggestions for a truce, said:

"I believe it is possible to solve this question. I believe peace can be obtained, and that if advantage is taken of our opportunity we can have a government in this country which will be a credit to the country and restore the reputation we had five or six months ago."

The meeting of the Dail yesterday had been entirely concerned with the situation arising from the split in the army. It ended with the creation of the committee of five from each side to inquire into the possibility for peace and with unanimous approval that, pending a report of the committee, which it is expected will be ready when the Dail resumes its sessions Friday, neither side shall engage in hostilities.

The new situation arose out of the negotiations Michael Collins and Richard Mulcahy instituted a week ago with a dissident army officer. Three points then were laid down as a basis for peace: First, acceptance of the fact that a majority of the people of Ireland want the Anglo-Irish treaty; second, that the agreed elections be held; and, third, that a government be formed having the confidence of the whole country.

Change in De Valera Party

The agreement was challenged immediately by the dissident army council as a political dodge intended to split its ranks, and Eamon De Valera newspaper condemned it on the same grounds.

But since that article was written a less hostile attitude has developed inside the De Valera party, and yesterday when the officers' organ of the movement were allowed to speak before the Dail Eireann, though the agreement was eloquently denounced by Liam Melowes, secretary of the dissident army council, neither Mr. De Valera nor any of his immediate colleagues said a word against it.

On the contrary, they assented to the appointment of the peace committee. Their representatives on the committee, however, include Melowes and Sean Moylan, both of whom are regarded uncompromising fighters. Harry Boland, another representative, is considered more likely to agree with De Valera than with Melowes.

Mr. De Valera delivered a remarkable speech in the Dail, expressing the conviction that peace was possible and also a restoration of the reputation Ireland had six months ago, when his own government was in office.

Different interpretations are being placed on the expressions "agreed elections" mentioned in the peace statement, but the favored interpretation, at least on the republican side, is that there should be no elections, but an agreement to return without opposition all existing Dail members of both sides and form a coalition cabinet.

Meanwhile the truce does not imply the execution by the dissident forces of the Four Courts nor any other building they hold in Dublin or elsewhere. Yesterday was devoted by the dissidents to strengthening their Dublin defenses with sandbags and installing several machine guns, which now

Barracks Blown Up

LONDON, May 4.—A despatch to the Times from Mullingar, describing the blowing up of the police barracks there last night, says frequent smaller explosions following the first great blast prevented any attempt at saving the buildings.

The post office, which adjoins the barracks, was saved.

It has not been established whether anyone was in the barracks, but the provisional government officers believe that the irregulars, seeing all barracks in West Meath in the hands of the regulars, except Mullingar and Castle Pollard, decided to let the former go.

(A Dublin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph last night said the garrison of the Mullingar barracks fled after the explosion, being chased in the direction of Castle Pollard by regular troops.)

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Speaking of Reading

I like the tale of the "open trail,"
The kind where the "men are men,"
Where the bad men clash and the six-guns flash
And each bar is a slaughter-pen;
I like the villains who wade in "killin's"
Till the hero shoots 'em dead—
The bloody, gory, gulloning story
Where every page runs red.

I like the girl who is in a whirl
Of perils and dangers vast,
Who thinks the hero a social zero;
Yet marries the kid at last;
I like the twang of the western slang
And the lure of the old frontier
Where the "100 per cent Americans" went
In the stories of yesteryear!

I like the fights where they doused the lights
As they heaped the dead in a mound,
Where each of the clan was a two-gun man
With a private burying ground;
I like a tale of that kind because
It brings to my mind again
The west as it probably never was
But possibly might have been!

Being Kind in Business

It is natural that the blind, dependent as they are upon the consideration of others, are most observant of this trait in others, as is indicated by this incident.

A well-known blind piano player was discovered on the main street in Manchester, New Hampshire, inquiring for a Waldorf Lunch. His discoverer led him there, but was curious why the blind man was so particular about his lunch room. He replied that wherever he had been in his extensive travels, he had always received marked courtesy and consideration in Waldorf Lunches. The Waldorf System hopes this will always be so in every store.

One Waldorf Lunch has a regular customer, a man who is deaf and dumb. A short time after he began his visits, he called the attention of the cashier to the back of his lunch check on which there was writing. She, expecting to read a complaint about a mistake in the check, read, "You have the best coffee in town." What more could be asked of coffee than making the dumb eloquent?

Mother—Has Your Child These Symptoms?

Mothers, watch children for symptoms of internal disorders. Look at your child NOW! Is his breath offensive and tongue coated? Does he grind his teeth or start in his sleep? Is his appetite changeable? Has he occasional griping pains? Is he constipated?

These are some symptoms of worms. Great distress often results from these parasites. Relieve him quickly with Dr. Truett's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller—purely vegetable—first prescribed by an old-fashioned Maine country doctor 71 years ago. Dr. Truett's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, purifies the bowels as it clears them. A favorite of careful mothers for four generations. Corrects constipation in young and old. 40c, 60c, $1.20.—Adv.

Prohibition Amendment, declared that labor "must make the fight now and we will never stop fighting until the rights of the people have been restored to them."

The meeting was largely attended by members of union labor organizations being present. There were also many men prominent in the city's business and financial circles, who occupied places on the stage. A large part of the audience was composed of women.

"I and the federation I represent," Mr. Gompers said, "are in favor of beer and light wines and against any attempt to enforce summary laws aimed at the personal liberties of our people."

"I have always had faith in the future of my country, but with prohibition I am apprehensive of that future. Temperance was the rule of the great mass of organized labor, but the prohibitionists and the so-called Anti-Saloon League have done more to undermine the morality and temperance of the workman than any other agency I know."

"I have traveled all over the United States, before prohibition, including its so-called dry territories, and today as I pass through these sections I have found more drunkenness than ever before."

"There are no stronger or more powerful supporters of the Volstead act than the distillers and bootleggers," Mr. Gompers declared. "With the Volstead act and prohibition replaced by a light wine and beer bill the bootleggers would go out of business."

A letter was read from United States Senator Wadsworth which said in part: "Frankly, I think we made a terrible mistake when we inserted a summary law of this kind in the constitution."

Circus Competes With Court as Attraction at the Trial of Hundreds of Miners in Historic Charles Town

EVERY MAN IN THIS GROUP OF COAL MINERS, SNAPPED BEFORE THE COURTHOUSE AT CHARLES TOWN, W. VA., IS UNDER INDICTMENT FOR TREASON, MURDER OR OTHER CHARGES GROWING OUT OF THE ARMED MARCH LAST AUGUST OF UNION COAL MINERS FROM KENAWHA COUNTY TO LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA. THE MINERS, THROUGH THEIR COUNSEL, PROTEST THEY ARE INNOCENT

By C. C. LYON
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 2.—The main street of this pretty little town in the mountains of eastern West Virginia is jammed from morning till night with autos, busses and drays.

The narrow sidewalks are made almost impassable by hundreds of men standing about with pink ribbons, holding from their coat tails.

Street fakers bark their wares. Members of the chamber of commerce and old residents bustle about with badges that tell they are members of the "Reception Committee."

Numerous signs point the way to the "Bureau of Information" or the "Room to Let" headquarters. Hotels and stores, taxi-drivers and bootleggers, movies and soda fountains haven't enjoyed such prosperity in years.

Like a Convention
Every surface indication tells that Charles Town is entertaining a convention of some kind.

But it isn't. The majority of its "guests" are the hundreds of union coal miners from the opposite end of the state—nearly 400 miles away—who are on trial for murder and treason in connection with their "armed march" into Logan county last August and September.

The pink badges they wear have printed on them "United Mine Workers of America—Defendant." That's so they can distinguish one another and be distinguished from the hundreds of others who are here for their trial—witnesses, lawyers, coal operators, mine guards, private police, deputies, federal agents, and bootleggers.

The only reason Jefferson county, of which Charles Town is the county seat, was selected for their trials is that it hasn't a coal mine within its confines and is furthest removed from the armed march.

Charles Town is quite overcome with the notoriety it is getting—and the thousands of dollars of outside money that is going into its cash registers every day.

Many descendants of Charles and Samuel Washington, brothers of George Washington, live here and dominate about everything—business, society, agriculture, and the professions.

They're prominent on all the committees that are looking after the welfare of the miners and others who are here for the trials.

There's William B. Packette, for instance, a great-grandson of Samuel Washington.

The very spot where John Brown, "liberator of slaves" was hanged on Dec. 2, 1859, after being sentenced to death in the very same courthouse where the miners are now being tried, is in Packette's yard.

It was down Washington street, the principal thoroughfare of the town, that Gen. Phil Sheridan dashed on his famous 20-mile ride.

James and Betty Madison were married here.

And now another great chapter in history is being written here.

Circus Is Coming
And a circus is coming to Charles Town. Every billboard has a crowd about it, the miners gazing with open-eyed wonder on the bright colored lithographs.

Judge Woods, who is trying the cases, has been advised he'd better adjourn court the afternoon the circus is here as otherwise there will certainly be a shortage of defendants and witnesses.

HOUSE REJECTS GASOLINE TAX

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday rejected both the plan to impose a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline and also the plan to increase the registration fees of motor trucks. The two matters were contained in a single measure reported by the ways and means committee. It was decided, however, to debate and vote under them separately. The proposed gasoline tax was referred to the next annual session by a standing vote of 86 to 61. The proposal to increase truck fees was refused a third reading by a rollcall vote of 116 to 82.

The legislation was recommended by a special commission on state administration and expenditures which last year studied the general subject of reducing state expenses and increasing the revenue. Both the committee on state administration and the joint ways and means committee favored the plan.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

DOES every day mean just another day of suffering? Are you lame, stiff, and achy in the morning—tortured all day long with a dull, nerve-racking backache? Does the least exertion leave you tired, weak, all-unstrung? Surely, then, there's a reason why you feel so badly and more than likely it's weakened kidneys. When the kidneys weaken, they fail to properly filter uric acid and other poisons from the blood. These poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. That's why you have that constant backache, and those sharp, stabbing twinges—why you feel so nervous, irritable and depressed. You may have headaches and dizzy spells, too, with annoying bladder irregularities. Don't risk drifting into serious or chronic kidney disease! Help your weakened kidneys before it is too late. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped scores of Lowell folks, and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Lowell City Officials Subpoenaed

Chiefs of Rival Forces Sign Truce

With View to Conference on Army Unification

CEASE FIRING FOR FOUR DAYS

Both Sides Agree to Maintain Order and Prevent Acts of Aggression.

All Penetrative Operations Will Cease—Truce Effective at 4 This Afternoon

DUBLIN, May 4 (By the Associated Press).—A truce between the rival Irish republican army forces has been declared, it was announced this afternoon.

The truce is operative from 4 o'clock this afternoon until 4 p. m. Monday, with a view to giving both sections of the army an immediate opportunity to discuss a basis for army unification.

The provisions of the truce are:

Clause I—All operations except training and ordinary army routine will cease.

Clause II—All penetrative operations will cease. Both sections will cooperate to maintain order and prevent acts of aggression against persons or property.

The document is signed by Owen Duff and Rian Lynch, the chiefs of staff of the rival forces.

Irregulars Ignore Truce

On the heels of the truce declaration a party of irregular troops this afternoon raided the guard room in the customs house, occupied by regulars of the Free State forces. Shots were fired and a sergeant of the regulars was severely wounded. The remainder of the guard was disarmed by the irregulars, who then decamped.

HORSES IN FIRE DEPARTMENT ARE MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Lowell Humane Society Agent Will Recommend to City Council That at Least Two Fire Department Horses Be Disposed of Immediately Because of a Dangerous Skin Disease

In a letter addressed to the city council to be read at tonight's meeting, Agent Charles F. Richardson of the Lowell Humane society recommends the immediate disposal of at least two and possibly three horses in the Lowell fire department, and brings out the fact that two of the horses are suffering from a skin disease that is not only dangerous to the animals themselves, but also to humans, should contact be had through an abrasion that would cause infection.

The letter was written today after an examination of the three horses had been made by Agent Richardson and Dr. William S. Eaton, veterinarian. A gray gelding at the Central station, that has grown old in the service, has muscular rheumatism and is absolutely unfit for fire service.

At the Fourth street house, however, was found the horse that is suffering from the skin disease, which in his case has advanced to the chronic state and is incurable. Not only is the animal suffering acutely, but already the disease has been contracted by his mate, now at the West Sixth street house, although in the case of the latter it has not advanced to such a dangerous stage.

Expert treatment can save the West Sixth street horse, but the case of the horse at Fourth street is considered hopeless. Agent Richardson said this noon that the skin diseases may be transmitted through bedding, combs or brushes and if a man with an abrasion on a finger should come in contact with the horse, the chances are he, too, would get the infection.

These two are not old horses, neither being more than eight years of age, and each is in splendid physical condition except for the skin disease.

FIDELERS BUY BUILDING

Portion of Building Occupied by Cherry & Webb Purchased for Investment.

Preliminary papers were passed today transferring that section of the building in John street next to the Five Cent Savings bank, now occupied by the Cherry & Webb outfitters, from the Hiram Parker estate to Charles S. and Cyrus Fidler, proprietors of the Boston Ladies' outfitters, who have a store located in Merrimack street. The money involved in the deal is in the neighborhood of $50,000. The new owners have purchased for investment and, as Cherry & Webb have a lease on the building, they will continue to occupy it, at least until the expiration of the lease.

This property is the last parcel of extensive holdings of the late Hiram Parker. The sale was made through James C. Kelly, trustee for the Parker estate, who also acted for Alice Parker Huthins of New York. Walter C. Guyette acted as representative for the Fidlers.

The Cherry & Webb concern occupy two buildings which, together with their entire store, extends from the bank to the corner of John and Lee streets. That section of the store involved in the transaction located next to the bank is three stories in height and is modern in all respects.

Elizabeth Goughlan, aged 15 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goughlan of 35 Wamesit street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of burns she received while playing at the home of her parents this forenoon.

As far as could be learned the little girl placed a celluloid comb in the stove and, when she took it out the flames connected with her clothing and before the fire was put out the child was badly burned about the face, hands and body. The ambulance was summoned and she was taken to St. John's hospital.

Calls on State Dept. to Produce Russian Ambassador's Credentials

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Rights of Boris Baklanoff, last accredited Russian ambassador to the United States to diplomatic privileges and immunity was discussed at length in the senate today by Senator Borah, republican Idaho, who, declared that in his opinion, the state department never had had credentials properly accrediting Mr. Baklanoff to the American government.

Senator Borah challenged the state department to show him the credentials "if they exist" and added that it was "inconceivable that a man can be ambassador without a government."

Mr. Baklanoff's government, he asserted, disappeared five years ago and none has taken its place so far as recognition by the United States is concerned.

LISTEN IN ON COLLEGES FOR FREE LECTURES

The modern professor is lecturing by radio. Colleges throughout the country have adopted this form of extending their courses to radio enthusiasts who care to listen in. And the lectures are given without charge.

But it pays, says President William O'Neil Thompson of Ohio State University at Columbus, O. It adds to the popularity and prestige of the college that broadcasts its courses, he maintains.

That's why President Thompson has had a radio transmitting set put up at the college. From this station members of the Ohio state faculty are broadcasting their lectures.

The station is conducted by the signal corps unit of the R.O.T.C. at Columbus.

Storage Battery Explained

BY R. L. DUNCAN,
Director, Radio Institute of America
The storage battery, one of the most important parts of the radio receiving set, is usually the most neglected.

There are a few receiving sets on the market that advertise the use of common dry cell batteries for lighting the filament of the vacuum tubes. But they cannot last long. A vacuum tube draws approximately one ampere of current an hour. This pull on a dry battery kills it quickly.

The Bureau of Standards at Washington has announced the development of a radio receiving set that eliminates the storage battery. But until this is popularized on the market, the radio amateur will have to content himself with the storage battery.

Lead Batteries

There are in general two very good types of storage batteries—the lead plate and the nickel-iron-alkali cell. Lead batteries consist of lead plates immersed in a 20 per cent solution of sulphuric acid. The jar or container for portable batteries used in radio sets is usually of a hard rubber compound.

The plates are usually of the "paste" variety. They consist of a flat frame or grid which is made of an alloy of lead and antimony, into which the active materials in form of a paste made from the chemicals are pressed. The structure of the grid is such as to hold the materials in place after they have been cemented into a solid mass. Plates which are made in this way are then "formed."

This consists of a prolonged charge from a source of direct current which oxidizes the plates intended for the positive until the active material of the plate is transformed into a lead peroxide—the familiar brown material of the positive plate.

The negative plates are reduced from the oxide condition of the paste to a spongy lead, which is of a dull gray color.

In making a cell the required number of positive plates are welded to a connecting strap, forming a positive group. Similarly the negative plates are formed into another group which interleave with the plates of the positive.

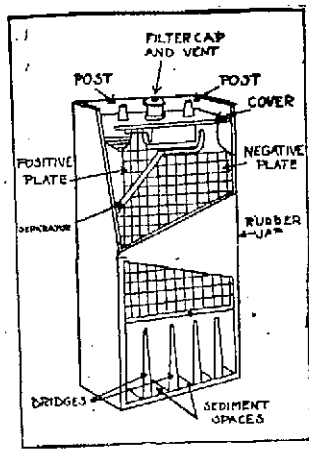

Separators are used between the plates to prevent a metallic connection.

Operation

During the discharge the peroxide of lead and the active material of the negative plate are converted into lead sulphate which covers the surface of the plates. When they are well covered, the cell is discharged and has to be taken to a station for recharge.

Since it is impracticable to open up the storage battery and look at the plates, one uses a hydrometer to determine the condition of charge or discharge.

It is nothing more than a long glass tube with a bulb at one end and a small float inside loaded with mercury or small shot. There is a graduated numerical scale on the rod reading from 1100 to 1300. This is dropped into the fluid of the storage battery and the bulb is pressed. In case of a lead plate battery the reading on the hydrometer should not be less than 1250.

RADIO PRIMER

Inductance—An electric circuit having the property of inducing a variable electric current in itself or in a neighboring, or secondary, circuit. In radio transmitting, the inductance is in the form of a spiral or helix. In receiving it is in the form of coils.

NOTED PHYSICIAN IS NEAR DEATH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Dr. Jos. M. McCormack, 76, an outstanding figure in American medicine, is near death here from paralysis, accompanied by cerebral hemorrhage. Since 1888 he has written the Laws on Health and Medical Education for practically every state in the Union. For 12 years he organized state boards for the American Medical Association. He was the leader in the fight on cholera in 1888 for which he was thanked by President Cleveland.

"BABE" RUTH HAS TONSILS REMOVED

NEW YORK, May 4.—Babe Ruth, king of home run hitters, had his tonsils removed at St. Vincent's hospital this morning. Nurses in charge of the case reported that "everything was satisfactory" upon his return to his room.

Mrs. Ruth was expected to be operated upon later in the day at the same hospital. Her doctors declined to discuss her malady.

When a woman of the Wakamba tribe in Central Africa throws a lump of earth at her husband the act is taken to mean that she desires him and he eventually is granted a divorce.

MISS M'CAUGHEY WINS SKATING CONTEST

Miss Anna McCaughey won the one mile open roller skating race for ladies at the Casino last night by one-third of a lap, also winning first place in the first heat.

Miss Jennie Juba, of Lawrence, took second place, which Evelyn Nash would probably have won if it had not been the latter's bad luck to fall in the last lap.

Miss Renaud, of Lowell, won third place, while Miss Nash had to take fourth money.

Six girls started, and the race was run on two 10-lap heats and two winners from each heat skated the final of one mile. They all skated a good race and Miss McCaughey, Miss Nash and Miss Juba with a little training would make a speedy trio.

A large crowd of skaters enjoyed the pleasure of the open air skating for the first time in Lowell.

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE AND DAUGHTER INJURED

GENOA, May 4. (By the Associated Press.)—Mrs. Lloyd George, wife of the British prime minister, and her daughter, Megan, were slightly bruised in an automobile accident today near Genoa, a small town four miles southeast of Genoa. The machine collided with one driven by the son of Premier Bratiano of Rumania.

THREE CHINESE SLAIN

Murderer Wounds Fourth and Then Inflicted Fatal Wound Upon Himself

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 4.—A Chinese laundryman shot and killed three other Chinese here last night and inflicted a probably fatal wound upon himself. The motive for the shooting is not known.

The murderer also shot and seriously wounded a fourth Chinese. The names of the men involved had not been learned at a late hour.

The man who did the shooting had worked until last week with the three men he killed. The one who was wounded was employed in another laundry.

It was the first murder in this city in more than 20 years. There has been a small Chinese colony here for 25 years and it has had a reputation for peacefulness.

LOVELY TO LOOK UPON

Heed These Hints if You Would Have a Lovely Skin

BY HELENA RUBINSTEIN
Famous Beauty Specialist

Just being youthful should mean that one is lovely to look upon. A normal youthful skin is lustrous. It has a great deal of life and some natural color which is effective enough if one just doesn't fuss too much!

In the first place, if one is to keep that youthful luster, the skin mustn't be given a daily coat of vanishing cream. Nothing so speeds the destruction of naturally nice skin as covering it up with vanishing cream.

A coat of such cream underlying the powder prevents action of the pores. So use a cream which puts in instead of one which coats if you would be lovely.

Have a bit of care, too, when working about the nostrils with cream. Be sure, before you touch your toilet or your preparations for the night that every bit of cream is removed from the skin about the nostrils. Most faces have a natural tendency toward large pores and blackheads there. Thus leaving cream encourages blemishes.

A lotion which cuts the grease should be used after removing the cream with a soft clean cloth. Skin about the eyes should be given quite the same treatment as that about the nostrils.

And speaking of eyes—the very finely outlined eyebrow is no longer good. Women who really wish to be beautiful are no longer allowing their brows to be narrowed by pulling them out. Indeed, in Paris, the very narrow eyebrow is considered hideous! Many women who suffered having their brows made so are now using vasoline to hasten their return. An excellent way to use an eyebrow remedy is to brush it in with the small eyebrow brush.

TO TAKE "KICK" OUT OF PATENT MEDICINES

NEW YORK, May 4.—Two hundred patent medicine manufacturers attend the second day's session of the Pharmaceutical Association's convention here today. The probable effect of plans to take the "kick" out of their products, Henry C. Fuller, Washington, D. C., chemist, has informed them that he is making good progress in the manufacture of a "deaturant" for alcohol.

"When you substitute this for alcohol," he said, "those who drink patent medicine for the 'kick' won't be able to get away with enough of it to gain even a suspicion of intoxication."

SAYING A GOOD WORD FOR LOWELL

This month's edition of New England Business, a magazine published in Boston, which deals with the features of the business in the New England states, devotes a large portion to Lowell. Under the head of "Massachusetts," there is a long article and picture in connection with the new Auditorium. The article speaks in glowing terms of the Auditorium and tells of how the idea originated and the men who were back of the movement from its inception.

In the advertising section a full page is given over to the city of Lowell, telling of its industries and furnishing statistics which sound most encouraging to manufacturing concerns looking for prospective cities in which to locate.

WELCOME TO NEW SOCIAL SECRETARY

Miss Allen M. Bell, new social secretary to the service bureau, was formally welcomed by the board of directors at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Following a short business discussion, Miss Bell outlined, in part, her plan for the carrying on of the work for several months. Several suggestions were offered by the officers, pointing out the importance of the work. The plan was to be able to solve the minute details of the work as it is carried on. Miss Bell wants the public to know just what is going on in the organization and how it is functioning because the help of each member is important and can be of great use in this work.

Just how this plan and others outlined will work out, is not known and will be until the next meeting of the board of directors is held. Miss Bell's office hours are from 11 to 1 each day and she will be pleased to meet persons interested in the work or any who have suggestions for the promotion of the work.

OSER'S CABLEGRAMS TO FIANCEE UNANSWERED

CHICAGO, May 3.—The engagement of Miss Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old daughter of Harold F. McCormick, and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., to Max Oser, Swiss riding academy proprietor, today stands just where it did when it first became known, several weeks ago, according to comment obtained from the McCormick home here. Interest was renewed yesterday with receipt of a Paris despatch saying Oser was worried because cablegrams to his fiancée were unanswered.

All rumors and reports pertaining to the marital intention of members of the McCormick family hereafter will be ignored, it was said at the family home.

"Her father has done all that he could," said Howard A. Colby, friend of the family, in commenting on whether Miss Mathilde and Oser were estranged. "Mr. McCormick announced his daughter's engagement, isn't that sufficient?"

Street begging is greatly on the increase in London.

OFFICER BITTEN IN HELPING GIRL

ATHOL, May 4.—Officer Callahan had an exciting experience last night at the home of George Alcausky of Cottage street extension, where he had gone at the request of Measusky's daughter, who was to be married today and who wished to secure her father to give them to her, Callahan entered the house and was attacked by both husband and wife.

After a struggle of some minutes and after being knocked down once, Callahan placed the man under arrest and took him to the police station, where both policeman and prisoner were attended for their injuries by Dr. Smith. The prisoner was cut about the head, while the officer had three cuts on the head. He was also badly bitten.

Harold Johnson, police chauffeur, who tried to assist the officer, was bitten on the right hand. The case will come in court Saturday. Officer Callahan resumed his beat after receiving medical attention.

IS YOUR GIRL ASHAMED OF HER FACE? DOES YOUR BOY GET MAD ABOUT HIS PIMPLES?

Boys and girls in their teens are sometimes very unkind, almost brutal to each other. One who has blackheads, pimples, boils or other eruptions upon the face is oftentimes laughed at, frequently sneered at and sometimes insulted.

These skin eruptions are only the result of poor, thin blood lacking in red corpuscles; in iron. Yet this is a common, almost a general condition as boys and girls pass through the change from youth to maturity.

The only way to quickly get rid of the unsightly skin is to enrich the blood; to help nature hurry the usual processes. Sarsal the Sensitive Tonic does wonderful work in invigorating all the organs, making rich, red blood and clearing the skin. The owners and clerks of all progressive drug stores will always be glad to supply you with Sarsal.

BOY VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY

Body of Robert Salaman, 14,
Found Hanging in Barn
Near Home in Detroit

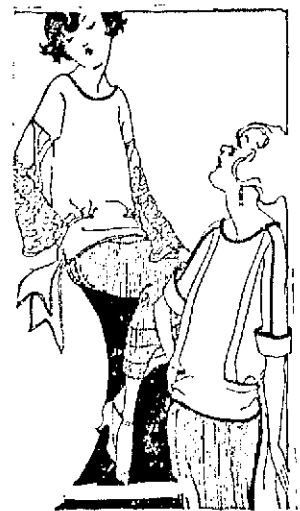

Suicide Theory at First
Accepted, But Investigation
Discloses Marks of Violence

DETROIT, May 4.—Robert Salaman, Jr., 14 year old high school student, whose body was found in a barn near his home yesterday, was murdered, police believed today. The officers and the boy's family at first accepted the theory he had taken his own life, although no motive could be found. Police investigation disclosed marks of violence that indicated a struggle and the position of the body, it was said, indicated the lad could not have hanged himself.

FIRE AT BROOKFIELD

Three Blocks, Including
Town's Only Theatre, Reduced to Ashes

BROOKFIELD, May 4.—Fire of mysterious origin destroyed the heart of Brookfield's commercial centre at an early hour this morning, causing a loss estimated at $30,000. The heaviest loss was in the destruction of the Midget theatre, the town's only amusement house. The fire was discovered at about 1:30 by passing autoists, who saw flames leaping from a barn in the rear of the Metropole block. In response to a call for aid, fire apparatus was sent from three nearby towns. Three blocks, besides the barn where the fire started, were reduced to ashes. They were the Metropole block, occupied by the Midget theatre, Mulech's variety store, and the Murphy-Crawley store, and the Bay Path shoe building. Herbert Photography, 75 years old, who was asleep in the Boot and Shoe Workers' clubhouse in the Bay Path shoe building, was rescued by one of the volunteer fire fighters.

WAISTLINE MOVES SOUTH

The migratory waistline seems to have come to anchor somewhere about one's waist. And it's the simplest way to keep it there in by means of the tie-on blouse which is justly popular for many reasons.

These blouses are made for sports and cutting wear of jersey and flannel. They are made for suit wear of any silk or cotton goods you may prefer. For afternoon wear they are made of elaborate materials and are elaborately trimmed. In any case they are satisfying.

The sort of blouse, you know, that one could never call "waistline." If you get what we mean.

them by the complainant company.

The writ is signed by Ralph N. Smith, clerk of the court, witnessed by John A. Allen, Esq.

If the writ of subpoena had been served yesterday morning instead of today, new bids on street asphalt could not have been opened at 11 o'clock. Yesterday forenoon Purchasing Agent Foye received a telegram from the lawyer of the Framingham Co., stating that a restraining order had been issued by the court, but the purchasing agent did not consider that sufficient legal notice and subsequently opened new bids.

The Framingham Co. now holds when bids first were opened in April, claims that the contract was verbally promised by both the mayor and the city engineer and that on the basis of such statements preparatory steps were taken and necessary expenses incurred.

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he does not believe the Framingham Co. has a case against the city and explains that the contract was not signed and that the city at all times has the right to reject any and all bids for any cause deemed sufficient.

It is claimed that investigation showed that better prices could be secured through new bids and therefore the first bids were cancelled and new ones advertised.

A representative of the Framingham Co. was present when the bids were opened yesterday and filed a formal protest.

Troops Smash on To Peking

dispatch of eight trainloads of China Tso-Lih's soldiers eastward in the direction of Tien-Tsin.

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, has arranged to leave Peking for Tien-Tsin in an automobile.

Gen. Wu Pei-Fu, brilliantly turned the right flank of Gen. Chang Tso-Lih's army last evening, according to today's address from the front. Chang's troops are now in retreat toward Fengtai from Changshien.

Another Attempt to End Fighting

PEKING, May 4. (By the Associated Press).—President Hsu Shih-Chang made another effort today to end the hostilities between Tso-Lih, the military governor of Mukden and General Wu Pei-Fu, military leader of Central China, who are fighting for the control of Peking. President Hsu, after a meeting of the cabinet, sent telegrams to both generals appealing to them to consider the welfare of China and end the civil war.

The telegram called attention to the three notes handed to the Chinese government by the foreign representatives here, protesting against the fighting in the vicinity of Peking and

Sheppard-Towner Act Unconstitutional

BOSTON, May 4.—The Sheppard-Towner act providing for federal and state co-operation in promoting maternity and infancy welfare and hygiene, was declared to be unconstitutional in an opinion given the legislature today by Attorney General Allen. In his opinion, he said congress had exceeded its authority in that the legislation involved police powers which were reserved exclusively to the states. He suggested that Massachusetts might well test the validity of the act in the supreme court.

warning of the serious consequences to China should foreigners suffer from the hostilities.

The cabinet also discussed the financial situation of the government. It was disclosed that the total resources of the Peking administration are now about 150,000 silver dollars monthly, a sum scarcely sufficient to pay the expenses of the city of Peking.

Owing to the hostilities, almost all the plans regarding China made at the Washington conference have been suspended.

Likewise, all the international commissions which were arranged at Washington to consider Chinese customs, the extraterritorial system and the withdrawal of foreign troops, have suspended their plan to convene in China in the immediate future.

Most of the Chinese newspapers declare the fighting, which they declare harmful to the country which ever side wins.

Governor of Kwantung Quits

Renew Hearings on Major's Promotion

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Hearings were resumed today by the senate military committee in executive session on the nomination of Lieut. Col. Duncan K. Major, to be a full colonel. Protests have been made by former officers of the 26th (Yankee) division against confirmation of the nomination. Witnesses today included Major General Harry C. Hulse, now stationed at Camp Dix.

To Delay Passage of Army and Navy Bill

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The intention of congressional leaders to delay passage of the annual army and navy appropriation bills until the new pay schedules for the military services, recently worked out by a joint congressional commission, is enacted into law, was made known today by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, house republican leader, and Senator Wadsworth of New York, in charge of the army and pay bills in the senate. The new pay basis, Mr. Wadsworth estimated, would save more than $5,000,000 in the next fiscal year on an army of 150,000 and a corresponding saving in the navy pay appropriation.

DEFEAT OF SEN. NEW BY BEVERIDGE BLOW TO ADMINISTRATION

HARRY S. NEW

ALBERT BEVERIDGE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 4. (By Associated Press.)—The defeat of Senator Harry S. New, Republican candidate for re-nomination, was made certain last night when the unofficial primary election of the vote at Tuesday's primary election gave a majority of 12,232 votes to former Senator Albert J. Beveridge.

With only 216 precincts out of the 2382 in the state in the race was: Beveridge, 175,936; New, 161,701. Seventy of the missing precincts were in Marion county (Indianapolis). In a statement to the Associated Press Senator New said: "There is no doubt Mr. Beveridge has been nominated for the senatorship. I do now, as I always have done, take off my hat to the winner."

For Mr. Beveridge a claim of a majority of 25,000 votes was made by his campaign manager, Clarence H. Martin.

Throughout his campaign Mr. Beveridge steadily criticized the present federal system of taxation and railroad rates and the formation of blocs for special legislative purposes at Washington. He also steadily advocated the sales tax as a means of raising revenue. Mr. Beveridge also asked Senator New to make public periodically the senator's campaign expenditures, and his invitation was not accepted. Mr. Beveridge made weekly announcements of the last showing a total expense of slightly less than $10,000. Senator bonus legislation did not figure in the contest, both candidates being silent regarding it. The vote by counties tended to show that Mr. New did not receive as large a vote in the cities as had been generally predicted, while Mr. Beveridge carried the rural districts by large majorities and made unexpected gains in several populous centers.

Democrats Pleated
WASHINGTON, May 4.—Out of the confused impressions inspired by the Indiana primary results the two most generally accepted were naturally more comforting to democratic than republican leaders.

These, in their relative importance, were the limited dissatisfaction of the Indiana voters with the record of the majority party in congress and a latent swing of popular sentiment against it.

Impartial commentators, while conceding a certain amount of justification for these conclusions, insisted that the impressive victory of Alfred J. Beveridge over Harry S. New for the senatorial nomination was chiefly of a personal character.

ARREST 200 STRIKERS

Taken in Raid on Long-shoremen's Union Headquarters at Montreal

MONTREAL, May 4.—Two hundred striking longshoremen were arrested today in a raid by the police on a meeting at union headquarters. The raid was an aftermath of a riot staged Tuesday night along the docks, when several policemen were wounded.

The longshoremen are striking in protest against a 10 per cent wage reduction. The shipping federation has employed non-union labor.

ENFORCING THE AUTOMOBILE LAWS

Officer Walter Kivlan of the police motorcycle squad got in some active work last night. Leaving the station about 9 o'clock, after having been on duty there awaiting emergency calls since 6 p. m., he started for Central, Madison and Graham streets, to look into traffic conditions. Within three minutes he found a dealer's car with no registration number on the rear end, and informed the driver of the machine of the fact that he was violating the law. During the remainder of the evening he stopped about 20 others, most of them for having their rear lights out. This will be the officer's work from now on.

EXAMINATION FOR CHAUFFEURS
Active Superintendent Macfarlane of the police department will take the civil service examination a short time ago, requesting a list of eligibles for chauffeurs in the department, for an examination therefore. Today a communication was received stating that such an examination will be held at an early date, the exact time yet to be determined.

LAWRENCE MILL WOULD YIELD

First Offer to Compromise Made to Strikers of Patchogue-Plymouth Mills

Proposal Made to Committee to Be Reported to Strikers at Meeting Tonight

LAWRENCE, May 4.—The first offer from any local mill to compromise with its employees in the matter of wage reduction, was made today by Agent H. A. S. Read of the Patchogue-Plymouth mills, paper rug manufacturers. Mr. Read, conferring with a committee representing the 400 strikers of his mill, said he would offer an average reduction of 2 1/3 per cent. The new offer in the weave room, in which one-third of the employees work, is practically a flat 10 per cent cut. Under the original cut the percentage through the mill ran all the way from 7 per cent up to 16 per cent. Under the compromise offer the greatest cut will be little more than 10 per cent. Mr. Read said the principal compromise comes in the weave room. The committee will be reported to the strikers tonight and that an answer would be returned tomorrow afternoon.

INCREASING THE MOTORCYCLE SQUAD

Police Officer Andrew W. Hunter is to be appointed to the motorcycle squad in a short time, according to the superintendent, making the total number of members seven. But one other member remains to be appointed before the squad is brought up to the desired quota, and the appointment will be made in the near future, as the squad is to be ready for action when the new uniforms and motor cycles are ready. The personnel of the squad at present is Charles Hamilton, Daniel Lynch, Frank Murphy, Edward J. Deane, Walter Kivlan and Michael J. Conners.

KILLED MAD DOG IN DOVER STREET

An emergency call came to the police station late yesterday afternoon, saying that a dog, apparently mad, had been running about Dover street, snapping at passers-by, and that the dog had been taken refuge in a house at 20 Dover street.

Motorcycle officers Hamilton and Murphy were dispatched to the scene and found that the dog was in a dark hallway. Going to the rear of the house the officers tried to get a window and found the dog, foaming at the mouth and apparently stark mad. Just below, Officer Hamilton shot the dog, disabling it, and the two returned to the front and completed its killing.

Would Erect Memorial For Women Martyrs

ELSIE DAVENPORT

Erection of a national memorial for women who lost their lives in service for the world war is the objective of a body of women, headed by Elsie Davenport, who are organizing the American Women's War Memorial Association.

The idea for such a memorial was suggested by Miss Davenport, a New Yorker, to President Harding, who referred the matter to Adm. Gen. Harris of the war department. The result was governmental approval of the plan and the formation of a committee to take in hand the organization of women interested in the project.

In order to make the memorial a really national affair the units of the association in various parts of the country, as they are organized, will have to interest their congressmen, who will present the plan in Washington. The unveiling of the memorial then will become a ceremony somewhat similar to the burial of the unknown soldier on Armistice day, 1921.

American artists and sculptors have been asked to submit suggestions for the memorial, the base of which is to be commemorative of the war work of all women and the surrounding figure or group a tribute to those who lost their lives.

Designs for tablets, which local organizations can have placed in their respective cities, also will be considered.

Miss Davenport has already been promised the co-operation of the American Legion, American War Mothers, Gold Star Mothers, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Defense Society and other organizations.

Reconstruction Work City Council Meeting Tonight

Four floors and the basement, will provide two new circular stairways leading from the ground floor to the top of the building, will provide a "completely equipped gymnasium, club rooms, library, recreation rooms, assembly hall and all other necessary accommodations."

New windows of Florentine glass will be set in the basement. Shower rooms, dressing rooms and new toilets will be installed and the bowling alleys will be re-finished. Tarrazzo floors will be laid in the toilet and shower rooms.

On the first floor new glass partitions will provide for a parlor and library, general lounging space and billiard and card rooms. A new lobby and entrance will be built, and a new stairway will take the place of the one now there. The present kitchen and dining room will be made into toilet and card rooms.

The present church galleries will be taken out on the second floor, making an assembly hall of practically 65 feet square. Check rooms and rooms for men and women also will be constructed on this floor.

A warden's room and a guild room will be built on the third floor, while the fourth floor will be given over to a gymnasium and banquet hall in one.

The building will be painted and redecorated throughout and new plumbing and electric fixtures installed as well as a new heating plant.

The building committee of the Knights of Columbus is composed of Joseph F. Bourke, chairman; Dr. Jas. F. Gaffney, secretary; Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Andrew Molloy, Philip Green, Timothy Roban, John H. McNabb and John E. Hart, president of the corporation.

salary for a director of the civic employment bureau, although an ordinance creating the position was passed after several attempts.

The council tonight also will consider an order appropriating money for the extension of the city's White Way lighting system in Gorman street, from Summer street to and including Thomas P. Mann square. This order will be introduced by Councilor Sadler of Ward 4, who has received from the city engineer an estimate that 23 lights there would cost $153 per month. It is understood that the order will call for $1200, for the maintenance of the extension for the second six months of the year.

Accompanying the order will be a letter to the council from the public service board, stating that the board approves of the extension, provided that an additional appropriation is made to finance it.

Included in a considerable amount of business that is to come before the meeting is an ordinance to be introduced by Councilor McPadden, providing for the appointment of a commission of 10 men to be known as a historical commission, whose duties will be to obtain historic facts and data to be used in connection with the city's centenary celebration in March, 1926.

An ordinance amending the city building ordinance to provide for 8-inch walls instead of 12-inch walls in the construction of dwelling houses also will be presented for consideration.

A bow and a set of arrows, more than 4000 years old, which came from a tomb in Egypt, are among the antiquities owned by the Royal Taxophilite (Archery) society, London.

TROUSERLESS PAJAMA

Father's Nightshirt Coming Back Along With Suspenders and Sleeveholders

CHICAGO, May 4.—Father's night-shirt—perhaps even the fuzzy one with the pink stripes and the split at each side of the tail—is coming back, and along with it suspenders, sleeveholders and rubbers, solid square-toed, conspicuous rubbers. This forecast of an age of innocence in men's fashions for the coming year, was hurried today by the United National Clothing, holding its 16th semi-annual convention here. It is said that the association would recognize the old night garment for it is all dolled up. They call it the trouserless pajama. It comes double-breasted all the way down to the ankles—the coat shirt idea carried further. It has double rows of frog-fasteners, and frequently has a shawl collar of contrasting color and raglan sleeves.

WILL DISCUSS FIRE HOUSE FOR OAKLANDS

Further discussion of the proposition for the erection of a firehouse in the Oakland section of the city will occur tomorrow evening at a meeting of the Oakland Improvement association, to be held at the home of the president, Arthur C. Spaulding, 133 Holywood avenue. The association has agitated a new firehouse for that residential district for some time and will urge it more strenuously now that the fire underwriters have recommended it.

HELD LADIES' NIGHT

There was a large attendance at the ladies' night conducted in Merrimack hall last night. The affair was given under the auspices of Lodge 133, International Association of Machinists and proved very enjoyable. The committee in charge was as follows: Edward McInerney, chairman; Martin McHugh, William Garkin, Philip McCalley, Herbert Kelly, Horace Ingham and James Lannon.

PAINS IN BACK?

Listen to What Mr. McCay Says About It

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"For several years I had been subject to severe pains in my back, which often became so intense that I was compelled to cease work for days at a time. I could hardly walk. I feared I was about to lose my health or experience a general breakdown. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets on Saturday night and in less than twenty-four hours all trace of pain had completely gone, and although ten weeks have now elapsed I have never felt the slightest return of the pain. I will be pleased to recommend Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets to any one whose condition may be similar."—Henry McCay, 100 Milton st. (Greenpoint). ## EXCELLENT RECITAL IN EDSON HALL

Unusual skill and dexterity, as well as excellent musical training, was manifested by Master William Hoyle last night in a piano recital in Edson hall. Miss Marion Lane, soprano, and William G. Heller, pianist, assisted.

Despite his youth, the boy's very apparent mastery of the piano was shown by his splendid appreciation of technique and rhythm. He displayed extraordinary composing ability in "Pizzicato" and "Rag Song."

Miss Lane and Mr. Heller did splendid work in the parts of the program in which they participated. Four vocal numbers by Miss Lane were well received and Mr. Heller and Young Mr. Hoyle, executed splendidly a "Prelude and Waltz" by Arensky and two Hungarian dances by Brahms, rendered on two pianos.

Hoyle, who is but 15 years of age, has been a pupil of Mr. Heller for some six years. He came here from his birthplace in England at the age of eight. Next season he will feature a Liszt concerto in another recital.

PICKETS OUT OF A JOB

Find Occupation Gone as Result of Restraining Orders Issued by Court

PAWTUCKET, R. I., May 4.—Textile workers who have been picketing mills affected by the strike for nearly 15 weeks now find their occupation gone. Today there were no pickets at four of the five mills affected by the restraining orders issued by Chief Justice Tanner. At the fifth, the plant of the United States Finishing Co., about 30 pickets assembled. Policemen in charge of Sgt. Wadsworth took the names of about one-half of the men and then ordered them to disperse. They quickly complied. The officials have not decided whether contempt proceedings will be taken against the pickets.

GETTING AFTER THE SPEEDSTERS

Letters were mailed last night to the selection of surrounding towns, asking them to co-operate with the Lowell police department in arresting speeders on the highway and promising the reciprocal aid of the local motorcycle squad. By Superintendent MacBrayne, who asked also that the motorcycle officers be provided with warrants and authority to make arrest outside the city's boundaries. In the past many automobiles have been chased over the city line, and in future the officers desire authority to continue the chase and arrest the driver. Compliance on the part of the town authorities will straighten out one of the most perplexing road problems.

Third Mystery Play "Arrives"

By JOHN O'DONNELL
NEW YORK, May 2.—Broadway is proving its ability to keep a secret. For more than a year and a half it has concealed the identity of "The Bat," for months spectators have left the National theatre to keep the secret of "The Cat and the Canary."

Now comes a third successful play which cannot be discussed in a mixed company of those who have and those who have not seen.

The trilogy of mystery thrillers is completed by "The Charlatan," a play by two hitherto unknown young authors, Leonard Friskins and Ernest Pascal.

Mixture of Thrills
Against the time-tested background of murder in the first act, identification of the murderer in the last, the authors have thrown Hindu magic and Yogi sword tricks, chairs that tumble from walls, deadly poisons from South American swamps, all well and plausibly done.

A group of guests are gathered in the drawing room of Mason Talbot's Florida home to be entertained by a magician. (Florida is selected in order that in Act 2, the guests can explain their mysterious wanderings on the ground that it is too hot to sleep.)

The magician is Count Castiglione and before the entertainment begins, the audience learns that his wife (Fania Marinoff) plans to elope with his assistant. She plots with her sweet-heart to meet him after she has taken part in her husband's most important trick—a vanishing act in which she is placed in a cabinet and made to disappear.

DETROIT, May 4.—William G. Orton, confessed bigamist, who testified he married Miss Thelma Nicholas here last year to give her child a name, despite the fact he already had a wife and three sons in Brockton, Mass., was placed on probation for five years by Judge Thomas M. Catter in re-entrance court here yesterday, ordered to pay $5 weekly for the support of his daughter by his second wife, and to return to the first Mrs. Orton.

The first wife pleaded for him in court yesterday while the second Mrs. Orton, who had filed for bankruptcy, begged that he be sent to jail.

WOMEN SIT AS LAY DELEGATES

Mass. Episcopal Diocesan Convention Takes up Election of Bishop Coadjutor

Rev. Wm. A. Lawrence, Son of Bishop, Among Those Mentioned for Place

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts Episcopal diocesan convention, the first in many years to meet a second day, today took up the election of a bishop coadjutor, with right of succession to Bishop William Lawrence. The latter had asked for this action, advancing his age as the reason. Women sat as lay delegates for the first time.

At the outset of the time for nominations, questions from the floor elicited from Bishop Lawrence, who was presiding, the statement that selection of Suffragan Bishop Samuel G. Babcock as bishop coadjutor would only make more onerous the duties from which Bishop Lawrence seeks relief. He added that under no circumstances would he call on the convention to elect a suffragan bishop, even though Suffragan Bishop Babcock were advanced. These statements were in reply to inquiries begun by Rev. David A. Matthews of Brockton.

A few minutes later, Suffragan Bishop Babcock's name was formally placed in nomination. Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Boston; Rev. Walter Harrison Cambridge of San Mateo, Cal.; and Rev. Dr. Charles Slattery of New York, the two latter formerly of this diocese, were named next.

Rev. William Appleton Lawrence, son of the bishop, who holds a pastorate at Lynn; Rev. William Pettus of Washington, D. C.; and Rev. S. D. Drury, headmaster of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., were the other names placed in nomination.

Suffrage Victory

BOSTON, May 4.—An ecclesiastical suffrage victory was won yesterday afternoon at the annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, held in Huntington hall, when, after two years of struggle for recognition, women were given the right to sit on the floor of the convention as lay delegates from any parish in the diocese entitled to lay representation. The decision was given immediately by the fact that four women who had been refused the privilege of the floor during the morning session, except as visitors, were immediately recognized as delegates as soon as the change in the canons of the church was made and may vote today for a bishop coadjutor.

These four women were Mrs. Mahol A. Jones of St. Peter's church, Cambridge; Mrs. Fred T. Hall of St. Thomas' church, Gloucester; and two delegates from the Church of the Messiah, Woods Hole. Mrs. Walter O. Landon and Miss Josephine W. Fiske. By a final vote of the convention yesterday afternoon the four women were given their status immediately as lay delegates.

Fears "Feminine Church"

The decision was not made, however, without a heated debate. Scathing reference was made to the "subliming desire of some sentimental young man," which provoked an equally scathing statement from Dr. William Harrison van Allen of the Church of the Advent that "I would rather have good women who will do their duty than half-baked men who run away from it."

It was Dr. van Allen who finally deflected the issue with an eloquent speech that called forth mingled laughter and cheers, ending in a storm of applause and a quick dispatch of the motion granting to the women their rights as delegates.

After Dr. S. B. Blunt, of All Saints' church, Dorchester, had made the reference to the sentimental young man, in opposing the motion, he declared that "the church is not cursed with too large a man power. If the men don't have to come to the convention, they won't, and if the women get the chance to come they all will, with the result that the Episcopal church will turn into the feminine altogether. If we are to keep the men of the church going we must give them something to do and give them their place. I plead for the men as much as I admire the women."

The motion was passed by the clergy by a vote of 88 to 38, and by the lay delegates by a vote of 43 to 22.

Enforcement Resolve Wins, 143 to 93

Another debate of oratorical warmth took place over the resolution submitted by Dr. van Allen, based on a resolution offered by G. Lorring Briggs of St. Paul's church, Brookline, in support of the prohibition amendment and the state enforcement code. The resolutions as submitted to the convention by its committee expressed the approval of the diocese of the "brave words of its bishop in his annual address regarding the duty of loyal citizens to maintain and defend the constitution of the United States in its every article and to obey and enforce all laws necessary to that maintenance."

"As Christian citizens," the resolution continued, "we condemn the spirit of anarchy wherever manifested which would bring into contempt the prohibition amendment, and in event of a referendum we urge upon the voters of the commonwealth approval of the bill recently passed by the house and senate."

All of the resolution was passed unanimously except the last phrase referring to the state enforcement code, on which there opposing the whole resolution carried their attack.

Mr. Briggs' amendment could not have been signed by Gov. Cox a point of order was raised, as a result of which Mr. Briggs had to amend the resolution to read as above. With this change it was passed by a vote of 143 to 93.

Textile Resolution Passed

A resolution was submitted asking that the textile manufacturers secure engineers to determine accurately the costs of production and the basis on which wages should be regulated. The committee appointed to consider this, however, offered instead a resolution submitting this suggestion to the committee on social service of the diocese with the belief that the industrial question must be approached from the viewpoint of human relations as well as wages and profits, and with the conviction that the church should lead the way to industrial peace.

This also aroused opposition from camp. While the resolution was passed by a peacefully unanimous vote.

During the noon hour elections were held to choose deputies to the national convention in September in Portland, Ore., and members of various bodies. The committee reported the election of four clerical and three lay deputies to the general convention, these being Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity church, Rev. John W. Suter, Rev. W. G. Thayer, headmaster of St. Mark's school, and Dr. William Harrison van Allen, of the Church of the Advent, and for laymen, Henry J. McJoseph, Grafton, Minot and Philip S. Parker.

Allied Terms Sent to Moscow

Continued. The resolutions, which they had formulated for Russia as a basis of future international policy, and they were studying a plan to divide the Baku and Gironzy fields into four or five zones, one of which the soviet would operate, granting concessions on the others to rival national groups. This, however, the soviet delegates said, would be conditional upon de jure recognition and adequate financial help.

France Supports Belgium

GENOA, May 4. (By the Associated Press.)—France's decision to support the opposition of Belgium to the private property clause of the memorandum sent the Russians, was announced today by the French delegation here, on receipt of official information from Paris. It was added that Vice Premier Barthou, head of the delegation, would return here Saturday.

This announcement is believed to mean that France, like Belgium, will not sign the Russian memorandum until the property clause is further amended in a manner satisfactory to Belgium.

French representatives here conceded today that the more the property clause is amended to satisfy Belgium, the less satisfactory will it become to the soviet government and, therefore, as the question of nationalized property is a fundamental one for the soviet, further changes are liable to increase the difficulties of the negotiations.

Belgium desires more definite assurances that property taken over by the soviet government will be returned to its foreign owners, and not incorporated in Russian companies.

French Cabinet Approves Pact

PARIS, May 4. (By the Associated Press.)—The French cabinet this afternoon approved the text of the proposed non-aggression pact, under consideration at Genoa, with the reservation that it must not be interpreted as withdrawing from France any rights she had under treaties.

The ministers spent the morning session of the cabinet in studying the text of the pact, originally proposed by Premier Lloyd George.

It was deemed necessary to make reservations regarding the rights of France to make use of the prerogatives conferred by the treaty of Versailles for the military occupation of German territory as a penalty for non-fulfillment of the treaty.

With this reservation the pact was unanimously approved.

The form in which the reservation will be presented at Genoa was expected to be decided upon at another meeting of the cabinet this afternoon.

Premier Poincaré and M. Barthou already are engaged in negotiations with Premier Tchernys as to the future attitude of the French and Belgian delegations at Genoa on Russian affairs, and an effort is being made to find a text for a reservation to the memorandum to Russia which the conference is likely to accept, and that at the same time will satisfy the Belgians.

The latter are understood here to fear strongly that concessions for property in Russia originally owned by Belgium and now nationalized by Russia will be traded in.

Russia to Accept Program

GENOA, May 4. (By Associated Press.)—Soviet Russia's delegates are expected to accept in general the reconstruction program framed by the powers, although interposing suggestions regarding its details.

The main sources of objection by the Russians, it is believed, will be the failure to include recognition of the soviet government, and the much mooted article regarding restoration of private property owned by foreigners in Russia, or the compensation of the owners.

Other points of issue likely to be raised concern the suppression of revolutionary propaganda by the Bolsheviks, and the absence of any offer of direct government loans to Russia.

The Frenchmen express the opinion that, whatever the Russians do about the allies memorandum, there will be no immediate recognition of the soviet. On the other hand, Mr. Lloyd George says that a non-aggression pact, to be effective, must include Russia, and her inclusion must be preceded by an arrangement with the powers concerning her reconstruction.

Indications are that the conference will mark time for several days while the final scenes are being prepared by the chief actors. The younger attaches of the Italian secretariat office have invited Mr. Lloyd George to a mountain trip and picnic to help him while away the time and to keep him from getting impatient.

In the Lowell District Court

Continued.

Without appearing in court, Officers Trudel and Kilroy corroborated Aldrich's story, while Deputy Hugh Downey informed the court that Kovalski paid a fine of $150 on a similar complaint last October. The judge then imposed the fine and jail sentence, from which Kovalski immediately appealed.

Other liquor cases were continued until later dates. Leona Dube, for illegal keeping, and Loren Revel, charged with interfering with an officer when the raid was in progress, were continued until Saturday. The raid which resulted in their arrest took place about three weeks ago. Piotr Paewicz, who appeared on an illegal keeping charge a short time ago, was continued until next Monday.

Curtis Chamberlain was accused of non-support of his wife, and entered a plea of guilty. His wife said she had received no money from him for several months, and during this time he has been living with a woman who conducts a boarding house on Lakeview avenue. Chamberlain said that his wife put him out of the house three times, and he has been obliged to find another boarding place. He stated that he is earning $15 a week, and previously earned $7 and $8 a week. It was discovered that he had told the probation officer he earned $15 a week, but he easily accounted for this by saying the extra $3 was for this board money, which he didn't think should be included in stating the amount of his wages. The judge informed Chamberlain that perjury was a serious offense, and on the non-support charge found him guilty and ordered him committed to the house of correction for five months, suspended for a year on condition that he would pay the probation officer $6 weekly for his wife's support. Chamberlain readily accepted the latter condition, and went on his way, with the judge's advice that he get a new boarding house.

Joseph H. Laporte, for non-support, was continued until May 13.

Alpha Ostigny was charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Laura Robinson, who said he had kicked her twice. According to the witness, Ostigny also assaulted her husband, with whom he had trouble about payments, and had count of himself, and presented a good treated her discourteously on previous occasions. It was in defence of her judge told him to keep on going, and husband that she was assaulted. Ostigny was fined $20, $15 for each kick.

Several drunken offenders were present. James Hackett, was found guilty and sentenced to the house of correction, with sentence suspended on day so that he may get out of town. Geo. R. Hastley was found staggering drunk in Middlesex street last night, at the same time annoying women passing by. It was found that he was on parole from the state farm, and the case was placed on file, an agent of the farm-taking Hastley in charge. Ralph E. Calley of Brookline, who was locked up last night on a charge of drunkenness after the machine in which he was riding, collided with another car in Gorham street, was released by the probation officer this morning. The driver of the car in which Calley was seated ran away when the accident occurred. Leon C. Chauvin was brought before Judge Enright as a suspicious person. Chauvin was able to give a good account of himself, and presented a good treated her discourteously on previous occasions. It was in defence of her judge told him to keep on going, and husband that she was assaulted. Ostigny was fined $20, $15 for each kick.

Lowell Textile School Show "I'll Never Tell" At the Opera House Tomorrow Night

The finishing touches have been put on Lowell Textile's show, "I'll Never Tell" which is scheduled for the Lowell Opera House tomorrow night. Only two short rehearsals remain before the time set for the curtain to go up on the latest production of the combined musical and dramatic clubs.

The cast has been announced as follows:

Jack, a Textile School Student, Estelle, the Vamp ..... J. P. Flagg
Helen ..... J. J. McCann
Jim, the Cynic ..... C. Bird
Helen ..... H. Brigham
Rev. Smyth Hardwick ..... R. Hadley
Evelyn Shaw, a Detective, W. Wheaton
The Advertising Man ..... F. K. Hall

A chorus of 30 will support the leading actors, all of whom have taken main parts in former Textile productions. Mr. Holley S. Winkfield, a graduate of M.I.T. and at the present time instructor of machine drawing at the local institution, wrote the musical score. He will direct a 30 piece orchestra which will furnish music.

The songs are said to be catchy and the whole show a laugh-producer. The scene is laid in the unknown "Billerica Islands," which, by the way, is a great playground for Textile students in spare hours. The usual love theme runs through the play and is all the funnier when the fact is considered that men take all parts in the show, but they sure do make stunning looking girls, vamps included. The decision to put on another show was reached by the Textile students following the success scored by an offering of the dramatic club some months ago. That show was a decided hit and many compliments were showered upon both actors and producers following the production.

The musical and dramatic clubs then put heads together and decided to try something which would bring both clubs together for one production. "I'll Never Tell" is the result of a conference held some weeks ago. The tickets for the play are going fast, although it is reported a few good seats may still be obtained.

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous I kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.

Neat, eh what? Especially if one's figure merits the same adjective? And that excludes, perhaps, why this sport coat and this middie are worn by the exacting young person for all outing wear.

They're made in the flapper's own color—lustrous red—gay, flippant, audacious. Jade green is allowable, too, but all except the highest of high shades are looked upon with slight but unmistakable disfavor.

When she decides to settle her eye catches the form of the college-bred young gardener of her father's estate, but he refuses to become her 14th lover. The girl is then put upon her mettle. She is going to make him love her. This determination leads her into a series of merry and exciting adventures from which she finally comes out victorious.

ALLEN'S RULING IS IGNORED BY SENATE

BOSTON, May 4.—The Massachusetts senate yesterday, by a vote of 22 to 15, ordered to a third reading a bill to prevent discrimination in the sales or leases of apparatus for dispensing gasoline. This bill was substituted some time ago for an adverse committee report, and then the senate asked Atty. Gen. Allen for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the bill. The attorney general sent down on Tuesday his opinion that the bill was unconstitutional, but the senate paid no attention yesterday to his finding. Senators Gibbs of Waltham and Monk of Watertown spoke against the bill, and Senator Shea of Holyoke argued for it.

Senator Bliss of Maiden moved to substitute for an adverse committee report a bill providing that candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and attorney general shall be nominated in convention instead of in primaries. On motion of Senator Bliss consideration of the matter was postponed to next Tuesday.

The bill providing for the enforcement of the Volstead act by state authorities was passed to be engrossed without debate on a voice vote.

The senate had a long debate on a resolution calling on the United States senate to pass the Dyer anti-lynching bill, which is now before that body. Senators Hardy of Huntington, Vt., Leight of Merrimack and Reed of Taunton opposed the resolution, and Senators Butler of Lawrence and McDonnell of Boston favored a substitute which did not mention any particular piece of legislation, but urged the passage of an anti-lynching measure of some kind. Senator Naphon of New Bedford was the original resolution, and it was adopted, 24 to 11.

The committee on cities reported a bill authorizing the city of Melrose to borrow $300,000 outside the debt limit for the construction of a memorial city hall.

MOTORIZING CITY DEPARTMENTS

City Engineer Kearney, the other day gave out the information that the silver being used in connection with the sewer department was being run at an average expense of 53 cents per day.

That statement in itself indicates that somebody is looking after such things in the various departments so as to be able to tell whether the running of any automobile is costing the city 50 cents or $5 a day. We do not recall any such statement as that having been given out by the street or sewer department in the past, although such information may have been available. If any such system of keeping an account of expenditures had been adopted in the street department when certain pieces of smooth paving were done, the city might have saved much trouble and needless expense. But this 53 cent statement is hardly satisfactory. There is no indication as to the time on which this calculation is based. Was it a week, a month or a year?

Although the silver is a serviceable machine, we surmise that if the computation is for a year, the cost would be more. There would surely be some expense for repairs on batteries, for tires, grinding valves and keeping the running gear in proper condition.

But the engineer made another statement, that taken in comparison, seems to argue against the retention of horses in the service; but right here we wish to say, that despite the economic use of certain motor vehicles, yet for some kinds of work the horse is highly preferable. The cost of the horse per day is $1.25, which would seem to indicate that a horse is more expensive than the Ford auto. That may be the fact under certain conditions; but for short hauls or for work in which frequent stops have to be made, the horse is more economical than the auto. No man who has to make frequent stops, as, for example, in collecting, can do better work with an auto than a horse. This explains why the horse is still retained for certain kinds of work in preference to the auto.

Chief Saunders of the fire department keeps an accurate account of the outlays for the eighteen horses of the department, and the average for each is 70 1-3 cents per day, which is 41 2-3 cents less than the average for the horses in the street department.

Here are the figures for a year: Hay and Grain.....$3,519.43 Harness Repairs.....110.59 Shoeing.....$19.70 Veterinary.....7.00

This sum divided by 15 gives $25.67, the average cost of the horse for a year, and the latter auto divided by 365 gives the daily average just quoted.

Motorizing the Fire Department

This expense for keeping horses would seem to argue in favor of motorization of the entire department; but there is no scientific basis of comparison in all the elements involved, such, for example, as speed in getting to a fire, cost of upkeep, and the serviceable life of the horse as compared with that of a piece of apparatus. On the whole, the judgment of fire fighters favors motorization as the quickest and best method of providing the most effective protection against fire. The motorized fire department may cost a little more than that in which the motive power is by horses; but the fact that it is faster is the prime consideration.

Chief Saunders asserts that in some cases the fire chemical is at the scene of a fire before the horses would have reached the street. Speed in reaching fires overtops all other considerations; because if a fire can be reached in the briefest time, the chances are that it will be prevented from spreading, whereas if it gets a little headway all the apparatus of the city may not be able to prevent its development into a conflagration.

The oldest truck in the Lowell department was secured in 1867 and has just been replaced by the new motor hook and ladder truck at the Lawrence street station. That will release two horses that may be transferred to other parties to be replaced by a motor truck.

The next oldest truck was put in commission in 1899 and is now at West Sixth street. That, too, will doubtless be motorized as soon as the city can afford the expense. It is not considered good policy to throw out the horse that has been in good condition in order to promote the motorization. In fact, it is regarded as economy when horses become decrepit to have others to take their place. Thus the motorization of the entire department carried on step by step as the present horses become unfit for efficient service, will be completed within a half-dozen years or less.

But it might be assumed that if motorization is good for the fire department, it is equally good for the other departments. That is not a fact, however. The horses used for the teams that go about collecting ashes and street sweepings can never be replaced by motor vehicles to advantage. Neither can any other horses used for like purposes. Of course, the heads of departments, if they ride at all, want automobiles, and a couple that can be run for 25 cents a day will serve the purpose just as well as a high-powered roadster or a seven-passenger touring car.

When a public official needs an auto in his work, he should have one; but there is no excuse for having the privately owned cars of city officials maintained in city garages and at the city's expense. Unless motor vehicles are carefully handled and kept in first

Adopts De Valera's Motion

Dublin, May 4. (By A. P.)—No motion of Eamon de Valera the Dail Eireann late yesterday adopted a motion ordering the opposing sides in the Irish republican army conflict to cease firing immediately and arrange a truce. Mr. De Valera said he would like to see the army executive which had taken an independent position issue a similar order and would do all he could to that end.

Richard Mulcahy said his side had done all possible, and Arthur Griffith declared their men were only defending themselves. Griffith pressed De Valera for a definite assurance, and the latter said courtesies should be sent to establish an immediate truce. Griffith urged that De Valera should speak at the Four Courts in Dublin, the headquarters of the dissident army faction. Richard Mulcahy seconded De Valera's motion for the order to cease firing and arrange a truce, and after its adoption the house at 6.05 o'clock adjourned until Friday.

The "Peace" committee chosen was made up as follows: Sean Hayes, Patrick O'Malley, James Dwyer, Joseph McGuinness and Commandant Sean McKenna for the Griffithites and Mrs. Tim Clarke, T. Rutledge, Liam McLowes, Sean Moylan and Harry Boland for the Dissidents.

In urging the necessity for a truce, Commandant Sean O'Donoghue of Cork said he had heard reports that 15 men had been killed in the fighting at Kilkenny.

Plan for Truce Till Friday

Mr. De Valera, speaking on the suggestions for a truce, said: "I believe it is possible to solve this question. I believe peace can be obtained, and that if advantage is taken of our opportunity we can have a government in this country which will be a credit to the country and restore its reputation we had five or six months ago."

The meeting of the Dail yesterday had been entirely concerned with the situation arising from the split in the army. It ended with the creation of the committee of five from each side to inquire into the possibility for peace and with unanimous approval that, pending a report of the committee, which is expected will be ready when the Dail resumes its sessions Friday, neither side shall engage in hostilities.

The new situation arose out of the negotiations Michael Collins and Richard Mulcahy instituted a week ago with the dissident army leaders. The points then were laid down as a basis for peace. First, acceptance of the fact that the majority of the people of Ireland want the Anglo-Irish treaty; second, that the agreed elections be held, and third, that a government be formed having the confidence of the whole country.

Change in De Valera Party

The agreement was challenged immediately by the dissident army council in a political move intended to split its ranks, and Eamon De Valera's newspaper condemned it on the same grounds.

But since that article was written a less hostile attitude has developed inside the De Valera party, and yesterday when the officers' stenography of the agreement were allowed to speak before the Dail Eireann, through the agreement was eloquently denounced by Liam Mellows, secretary of the dissident army council, neither Mr. De Valera nor any of his immediate colleagues said a word against it. On the contrary, they assented to the appointment of the peace committee.

Their representatives on the committee, however, include Mellows and Sean Moylan, both of whom are regarded uncompromisingly as dissidents. Harry Boland, another representative, is considered more likely to survive with De Valera than with Mellows.

Mr. De Valera delivered a remarkable speech in the Dail, expressing the conviction that peace was possible and also a restoration of the reputation Ireland had six months ago, when its own government was in office.

Different interpretations are being placed on the expressions "agreed elections" mentioned in the peace statement, but the favored interpretation, at least on the republican side, is that there should be no elections, but an agreement to return without opposition all existing Dail members of both sides and form a coalition cabinet.

Meanwhile the truce does not imply the evacuation by the dissident forces of the Four Courts nor any other building they held in Dublin or elsewhere. It merely means a cessation of hostilities in strengthening their Dublin defenses with handbags and installing several machine guns, which now project from the windows of the Four Courts building.

In answer to a question, Foreign Minister Duffy said Dennis McCullough had been sent to America to counteract foreign propaganda. He said Harry C. Boland had been dismissed from his service in America, and John Kelly from Paris, because they had identified themselves publicly with active party propaganda against the government which it was their duty to serve.

Michael Collins, in the course of the debate, said the present attempt at agreement was not a political stand. The men who signed the amity proposal knew each other and he hoped their committee would consider, in addition to the army situation, the present grave condition of the country, which was drifting toward economic chaos.

Barracks Blown Up

LONDON, May 4.—A despatch to the Times from Mullingar, describing the blowing up of the police barracks there last night, says frequent smaller explosions following the first great blast prevented any attempt at saving the buildings.

The post office, which adjoins the barracks, was saved. It has not been established whether anyone was in the barracks, but the provisional government officers believe that the irregulars, seeing all barracks in West Meath in the hands of the regulars, except Mullingar and Castle Pollard, decided to let the former go. (A Dublin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph last night said the garrison of the Mullingar barracks fled after the explosion, being chased in the direction of Castle Pollard by regular troops.)

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Speaking of Reading

I like the tale of the "open trail," The kind where the "men are men," Where the bad men clash and the six-guns flash And each bar is a slaughter-pen; I like the villains who wade in "killin's" Till the hero shoots 'em dead— The bloody, gory, galloping story Where every page runs red.

I like the girl who is in a whirl Of perils and dangers vast, Who thinks the hero a social zero; Yet marries the kid at last; I like the twang of the western slang And the lure of the old frontier Where the "100 per cent Americans" went In the stories of yesteryear!

I like the fights where they doused the lights As they heaped the dead in a mound, Where each of the clan was a two-gun man With a private burying ground; I like a tale of that kind because It brings to my mind again The west as it probably never was But possibly might have been!

Being Kind in Business

It is natural that the blind, dependent as they are upon the consideration of others, are most observant of this trait in others, as is indicated by this incident.

A well-known blind piano player was discovered on the main street in Manchester, New Hampshire, inquiring for a Waldorf Lunch. His discoverer led him there, but was curious why the blind man was so particular about his lunch room. He replied that wherever he had been in his extensive travels, he had always received marked courtesy and consideration in Waldorf Lunches. The Waldorf System hopes this will always be so in every store.

One Waldorf Lunch has a regular customer, a man who is deaf and dumb. A short time after he began his visits, he called the attention of the cashier to the back of his lunch check on which there was writing. She, expecting to read a complaint about a mistake in the check, read, "You have the best coffee in town." What more could he ask of coffee than making the dumb eloquent?

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by taking 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

Mother—Has Your Child These Symptoms?

Mothers, watch children for symptoms of internal disorders. Look at your child NOW! Is his breath offensive and tongue coated? Does he grind his teeth or start in his sleep? Is his appetite changeable? Has he occasional gripping pains? Is he constipated? These are some symptoms of worms. Great distress often results from these parasites. Relieve him quickly with Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller—purely vegetable—first prescribed by an old-fashioned Maine country doctor 71 years ago. Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, purifies the bowels as it clears them. A favorite of careful mothers for four generations. Corrects constipation in young and old. 40c, 50c, $1.20.—Adv.

I did over the walls myself with Muralite

THE kitchen is a much nicer place to work in when the walls are clean and cheerful. You can refresh it any afternoon between lunch and supper. Try it tomorrow—TODAY.

And what a pleasure it is to find that this beautiful wall finish can be applied for as little as two dollars a room! No, it really wasn't work at all. I enjoyed it. Muralite is so easily mixed with boiling water, and I applied it with a wide brush right over the faded old wall. And to think I've waited all this time to redecorate because of the cost.

If you, too, want a soft, rich, velvety finish for your walls—a finish that will make a good background for your pictures and furnishings—use Muralite.

Muralite may be used over almost any surface—paint, plain paper, plaster or wall board. It is odorless, sanitary, durable. Does not rub or chip off. Supplied in many beautiful and lasting colors, to give just the decorative effect you desire.

You will surely be delighted with the results; use Muralite on one room as a trial. Go to your dealer's today and ask to see a Muralite color card.

Circus Competes With Court as Attraction at the Trial of Hundreds of Miners in Historic Charles Town

EVERY MAN IN THIS GROUP OF COAL MINERS SNAPPED BEFORE THE COURTHOUSE AT CHARLES TOWN, W. VA., IS UNDER INDICTMENT FOR TREASON, MURDER OR OTHER CHARGES GROWING OUT OF THE ARMED MARCH LAST AUGUST OF UNION COAL MINERS FROM KENAWHA COUNTY TO LOGAN COUNTY, W. VA. THE MINERS, THROUGH THEIR COUNSEL, PROTEST THEY ARE INNOCENT

By G. C. LYON
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 2.—The main street of this pretty little town in the mountains, of eastern West Virginia is jammed from morning till night with autos, busses and drays.

The narrow sidewalks are made almost impassable by hundreds of men standing about with pink ribbons floating from their coat lapels.

Street fakers bark their wares. Members of the chamber of commerce and old residents bustle about with badges that tell they are members of the "Reception Committee."

Numerous signs point the way to the "Bureau of Information" or the "Rooms to Let" headquarters. Hotels and stores, taxi-drivers and bootblacks, movies and soda fountains haven't enjoyed such prosperity in years.

Like a Convention
Every surface indication tells that Charles Town is entertaining a convention of some kind.

But it isn't. The majority of its "guests" are the hundreds of union coal miners from the opposite end of the state—nearly 400 miles away—who are on trial for murder and treason in connection with their "armed march" into Logan county last August and September.

The pink badges they wear have printed on them "United Mine Workers of America-Defendant." That's so they can distinguish one another and be distinguished from the hundreds of others who are here for their trial—witnesses, lawyers, coal operators, mine guards, private police, deputies, federal agents, and bootleggers.

The only reason Jefferson county, of which Charles Town is the county seat, was selected for their trials is tion of the United States. This was a fundamental error. Then we made another mistake when we passed an enforcement act so severe in its provisions that it is proving impossible of enforcement. It is entirely clear that great masses of people are holding this law in disrespect; violations are going on and wholesale corruption is spreading, hypocrisy is the order of the day. It extends into every element of the population; leads to disrespect and indeed contempt for law and the orderly conduct of government.

James Snover, banker, who opened the meeting, said that the Volstead act "is fast degenerating into class legislation, favoring the well-to-do as against the less fortunate ones of our citizens."

that it hasn't a coal mine within its confines and is farthest removed from the armed march.

Charles Town is quite overcome with the notoriety it is getting—and the thousands of dollars of outside money that is going into its cash registers every day.

Many descendants of Charles and Samuel Washington, brothers of George Washington, live here and dominate about everything—business, society, agriculture, and the professions.

They're prominent on all the committees that are looking after the welfare of the miners and others who are here for the trials.

There's William B. Packette, for instance a great-grandson of Samuel Washington.

The very spot where John Brown, "liberator of slaves," was hanged on Dec. 2, 1859, after being sentenced to death in the very same courthouse where the miners are now being tried, is in Packette's yard.

It was down Washington street, the principal thoroughfare of the town, that Gen. Phil Sheridan dashed on his famous 20-mile ride.

James and Dolly Madison were married here.

And now another great chapter in history is being written here.

Circus Is Coming

And a circus is coming to Charles Town! Every billboard has a crowd about it, the miners gazing with open-eyed wonder on the bright colored lithographs.

Judge Woods, who is trying the cases, has been advised he'd better adjourn court the afternoon the circus is here as otherwise there will certainly be a shortage of defendants and witnesses.

HOUSE REJECTS GASOLINE TAX

BOSTON, May 4. The Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday rejected both the plan to impose a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline and also the plan to increase the registration fees of motor trucks.

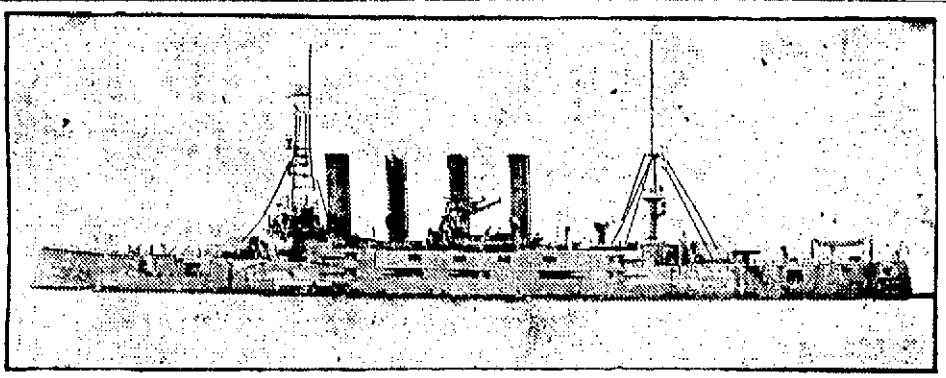

The two matters were contained in a single measure reported by the ways and means committee. It was decided, however, to debate and vote under them separately.

The proposed gasoline tax was referred to the next annual session by a standing vote of 38 to 61. The proposal to increase truck fees was refused a third reading by a rollcall vote of 116 to 82.

The legislation was recommended by a special commission on state administration and expenditures which last year studied the general subject of reducing state expenses and increasing the revenue. Both the committee on state administration and the joint ways and means committee favored the plan.

In the courthouse (above) at Charles Town, W. Va., where John Brown was sentenced to hang in 1859, several hundred coal miners are being tried for treason, murder and other charges growing out of the armed march on Logan county last summer. Below are the miners' defense attorneys. Left to right: James Mason, Jr., I. P. Hager, H. W. Houston (chief counsel), Charles J. Van Fleet, T. C. Townsend.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

DOES every day mean just another day of suffering? Are you lame, stiff, and aching in the morning—tortured all day long with a dull, nerve-racking backache? Does the least exertion leave you tired, weak, all-unstrung? Surely, then, there's a reason why you feel so badly and more than likely it's weakened kidneys. When the kidneys weaken, they fail to properly filter uric acid and other poisons from the blood. These poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. That's why you have that constant backache, and those sharp, stabbing twinges—why you feel so nervous, irritable and depressed. You may have headaches and dizzy spells, too, with annoying bladder irregularities. Don't risk drifting into serious or chronic kidney disease! Help your weakened kidneys before it is too late. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped scores of Lowell folks, and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

O. A. KNAPP, City Fireman

"Being exposed to all kinds of weather brought on kidney complaint. I had a heavy, dull pain through the small of my back and when I stopped a stitch caught me through the small of my back and I had dizzy spells and came near falling. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at J. J. Galt's Drug Store and they soon rid me of the backache and dizzy spells. I wouldn't be without Doan's in my home."

MRS. JOHN FLAVELL
21 Dudley Court, Sayre

"The first symptom of kidney trouble in my case was lame back. When I tried to wash, awful pains shot through the small of my back and after a day's work I could hardly get straightened. I suffered severely from pain in the back of my head and I always felt tired and played out. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and a couple of boxes from J. J. Galt's Drug Store removed the pain from my back. I felt years younger."

GEORGE V. MORRIS, Machinist
115 Lincoln Street, Sayre

"I worked in the paint shop for a while and the turpentine fumes knocked my kidneys out. I had severe pains in my back and to stop felt as though someone was pulling my back to pieces. I had to pass the kidney secretions frequently. Everything went around in circles at times and I came near falling over. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and half a dozen boxes cured me completely. My cure has been a lasting one."

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 4.—Profit-taking in some of the oil stocks which featured yesterday's rise, caused moderate unsettlement of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Standard Oil of California, eased 1 1/2 points and the New Jersey issue reacted fractionally. Mexican Oil, which did not participate in yesterday's movement, was firm, as were also, Houston and Producers and Refiners. Secondary markets extended their recent gains, Mack Trucks rising two points. Mercantile Marine, American Woolen and Brooklyn Rapid Transit were higher by fractions to one point. Ralls reflected moderate pressure, especially Chicago and Eastern Illinois common and preferred. Domestic oil and some of the investment falls were stronger in the later dealings, but the general list reversed its course on more extensive realizing. The closing was irregular.

HELD PRETTY MAY PARTY CITY PLANNING EXPERT

Concert and Dance Under Auspices of the Knights of Columbus

Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, entertained a large assembly of members and friends in Associate hall last night at a most successful May party and dance for the benefit of the building fund. A splendid concert opened the evening's program, with general dancing occupying the remainder of the evening.

JAMES J. BRUIN, Floor Marshal

But five specialties were included in the program, but the talent displayed by each of the participants was far above the ordinary.

The opening number of the program was a soprano solo by Miss Kathleen Jennings, "The Open Secret." So well it was sung that repeated encores forced Miss Jennings to sing "The Open Secret" a second time. Fred Cummings followed with "Thank God for a Garden," and was very favorably received. Mrs. Margaret McDonough sang "Whisper and I Shall Hear," with violin accompaniment by Miss Angela O'Brien and an encore rendered "Little Town in the Old Country Down." The latter number, now so familiar to local audiences, was never given a better interpretation, although it has been attempted by many of Lowell's leading singers. A baritone solo by Timothy Finnegan was excellently received and Mr. Finnegan was called to many encores, which he refused. Leon Varvara, with violin and piano, gave his specialty, "The Revolution of a Planet," just as on the professional stage, and received a warm greeting.

One of the most notable features of the musical program, contributing immeasurably to its success, was the extraordinary ability of the accompanist, Mrs. Ella Kelly Toye. Her accompaniments were invariably splendid, and assisted the singers in a great degree. Mrs. Toye is undoubtedly the city's leading accompanist. Miss O'Brien's violin obligato to one of Mrs. McDonough's songs was another feature particularly worthy of mention. Mr. Edward F. Slattery, Jr., was in charge of the entertainment.

The general dancing which followed the concert was enjoyed to the full by hundreds of young people, and the evening's entertainment was brought to a close at 11 o'clock.

The committee in charge was as follows: General manager, Grand Knight John E. Hart; assistant general manager, Deputy Grand Knight Roger J. Lang; floor director, James J. Bruin; assistant floor directors, Edward F. Slattery, Jr., and T. R. O'Brien; chairmen, William L. O'Brien and Michael J. Moloney. Roger J. Lang was chairman of the general committee; James J. Bruin, secretary.

HAND EMBROIDERY BY NATIVE FILIPINOS

Hand embroidery work of beautiful design and exquisite workmanship is being done daily at the Bon Marche store in Merrimack street by three native Filipinos, who have brought with them much of the home life of the islands of the Pacific, as they do their work under a canopy draped with nipa palm leaves, built after the style of Philippine houses.

Miss Erlinda Cruz, Miss Raquel Bartolome and Pedro Navarro are the three visitors from our far western islands and for the past several months they have visited the larger cities of the country exhibiting their handwork.

They have created their palm-leafed canopy on the second floor of the Bon Marche store and at companies of one of the most interesting displays of women's undergarments ever seen in the city. Embroidery is being worked in a number of delicate and intricate stitches, including scalloping, knotting and dots, pearls of power and embroidery of four patterns.

Materials for the embroidery are sent to the Philippines from this country, comprising the best of muslins and longcloths. They are cut up and patterned in the factories of Manila and the garments are then distributed in the homes in many different pieces. An each piece seems to be specialized in a special kind of embroidery, one garment may carry a pattern through a number of expert fingers before it is completed.

This entire system is being shown in Lowell by the islanders who have come to the city for a fairly brief stay and hundreds of women already have watched their work with unusual pleasure and interest. The garments being shown here are called "Bantay," meaning "beautiful."

Zoning Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Hears Philip W. Foster

Philip W. Foster, associated with John Nolan, city planning and zoning expert, came to Lowell yesterday afternoon to talk before the zoning committee of the chamber of commerce. The meeting was held in chamber of commerce headquarters. Present at the meeting were Herford N. Elliott, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, Elmore Chamberlain, Walter Emmott and Benjamin S. Ponzner of the zoning committee, together with Secretary-Manager Edward F. Wells and his assistant, Edward W. Gallagher.

A carefully made survey, including the gathering of all available maps, so that the city's possibilities could be seen at a glance and the different centers located in the proper manner, should precede any installation of a zoning system, according to Mr. Foster. The rest should follow as a natural sequence.

City planning is only common-sense applied to a city, according to the speaker. It consists of going over the maps and considering not only street lines, but the location of buildings and their descriptions as well. The great difficulty is in finding such maps.

Mr. Foster displayed a number of maps of Flint, Michigan, as a basis for his discussion. He dwelt long and interestingly on each feature, and when he was through his listeners and spectators had a very good idea of what is meant by a model city. He then proceeded to outline how such conditions may be brought about in Lowell.

Mr. Foster was well informed on conditions in this city, and made a number of suggestions by which present undesirable features could be eliminated. He considered the apartment houses, the same basis as a business block, and felt that it should be kept out of residential districts. Also, in relation to small stores, he spoke of the plans previously considered by the chamber committee, of locating them in corners in the sections provided for residences, and added a suggestion that streets might be set apart for them.

In conclusion, Mr. Foster urged the necessity of a zoning ordinance, if drawn, being drawn along enough to achieve something of value, but not so strict as to work a hardship on the citizens of the city.

CHARGES OF INCIVILITY AGAINST DUCKWORTH

Charges of incivility against Thomas Duckworth, superintendent of the Edison cemetery, were preferred late yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the board of cemetery commissioners, by Mr. Clee, who claimed that he had not been properly treated last March when a relative of his was buried in the cemetery.

Mr. Clee charged that cemetery employees opened the wrong grave, and that when he called to the attention of Supt. Duckworth the latter gave him discourteous attention.

Supt. Duckworth denied the allegations and stated that he was so busy that he did everything possible to rectify it. The commissioners took the complaint under advisement.

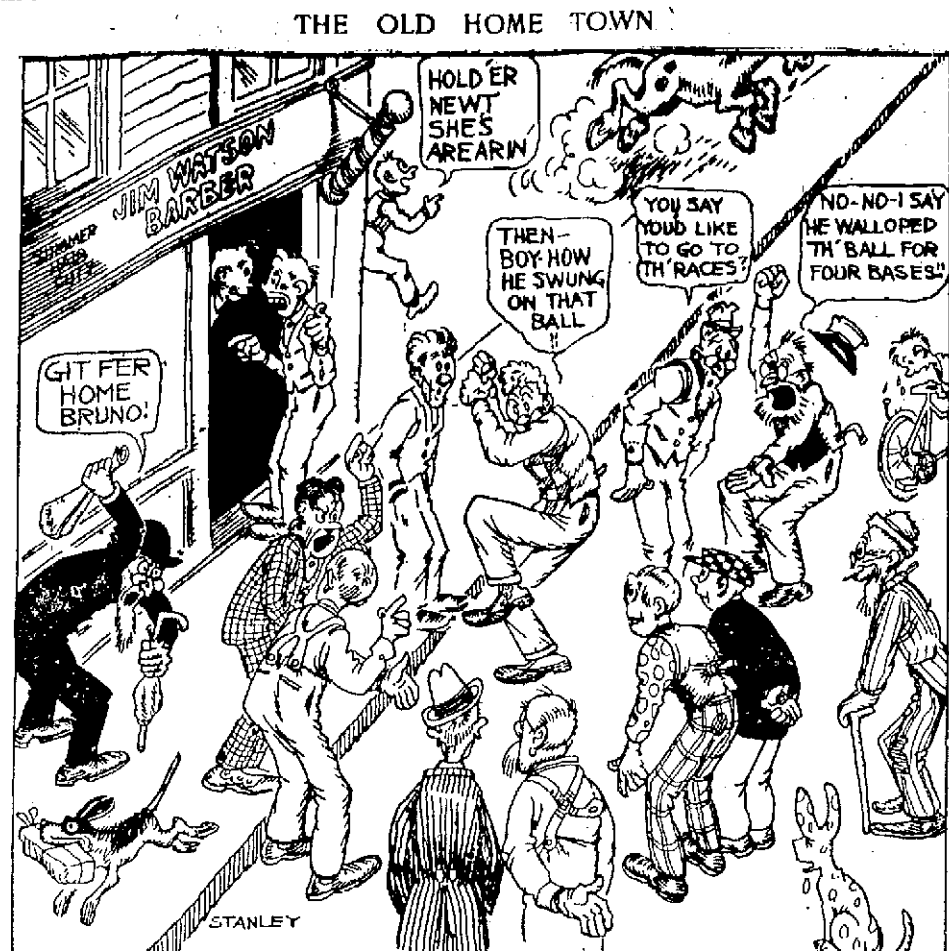

William H. Rigby, present chairman of the board, was re-elected for 1922. The commission voted to instruct the city treasurer to transfer interest on the John J. Stachurski trust to the regular cemetery fund on account of bill of John J. Wender, Boston.

John J. Gray appeared before the board in behalf of an owner of a large tract of land adjacent to the Edison cemetery and presented a plan showing the tract that may be purchased for a fair price, facing to the absence of Mr. Taylor, no action was taken, although chairman Rigby said that the time is near when the commission will be forced to look beyond the immediate neighborhood of the Edison cemetery for additional land. He stated that New Bedford has appropriated $200,000 this year for cemetery expansion.

CENTRAL BRIDGE CONFERENCE
No conference in the Central bridge will be held today as previously planned, owing to the inability to be present of Professor Louis B. Moore, consulting engineer. Plans for the repair of the bridge surface were to have been discussed in connection with the meeting of the board in public session, but Prof. Moore will not be able to leave work he now has in process for several days.

We, the undersigned, desire to express our thanks to our many friends for their acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral and spiritual offerings on the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Marie Chasse. We deeply appreciate the kindly efforts to lighten our burden of sorrow and we will ever hold them dear and all in loving remembrance.
